TOLLING BELLS VOICE SORROW

Home City Honors Memory of Late Vice President
Sherman.

LIFELESS FORM LIES IN STATE

Thousands Pass His Bier in Sombre-Draped Court House at Utica.

Utica, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Beginning at 3 o'clock today the people of Utica were given opportunity to make outward manifestations of their regard for their fellow townsman, Vice President Sherman. Arrangements have been made to have the body lie in state at the county court house today from 3 o'clock till 9 this evening to afford an opportunity to those engaged in business to participate in showing their respect and affection.

The body has been placed in a heavy mahogany casket and was removed from the Sherman home at 2:30 o'clock. There was an honorary escort to the court house, while the procession was protected from intrusion by two companies of the national guard. The public generally is also invited to accompany the cortege.

Court House is Draped.
The court house, which is admirably adapted to such a ceremony as that planned for today has been properly draped. The casket rested on a large catafalque draped with black and surrounded by palms. Uniformed members of the national guard were present during the ceremony to act as a guard of honor and to prevent confusion among visitors.

At 9 o'clock the body of the vice president will be returned to the family residence, there to rest for the last night. After a brief service of prayer at 1 o'clock tomorrow in which only the family will participate the body will be taken to the First Presbyterian church and thence to the cemetery.

Will Rest in Crypt.
The casket will be placed in a crypt in a mausoleum recently erected by Mrs. Sherman's family in Forest Hill cemetery. This tomb was opened first for occupancy less than a month ago, when the body of Mrs. Sherman's mother was placed in one of its crypts. It is modeled after a European pattern, built of granite and marble lined. The roof consists of three immense slabs of granite, one of which weighs sixteen tons.

Messages of condolences continue to pour in from all parts of the world. A list of the names of those received yesterday fills almost two columns in the morning paper.

Solemn Toll of Bells.
Bells began to toll at an early hour today. In every possible way, indeed the people of the vice president's home city are showing their sense of loss.

Notwithstanding the near approach of the national election there is no suggestion of political activity, republicans, democrats and progressives vying with one another in their efforts to show regard for the dead.

The honorary pall-bearers were announced as follows: United States Senator Elihu Root, Thomas R. Proctor, Charles S. Simonds, William S. Doan, J. Francis Day, George E. Duhamel, Charles B. Rogers, William T. Baker, Henry H. Cooper and Dr. Fayette E. Peck.

All are Uticans except Senator Root.

SIMS DERIDES MOOSE CLAIMS

Will Not Carry a County in Indiana, Says Republican Chairman.

PROGRESSIVE VOTE NIL, HE DECLARES

Senator Shively and Folk
After Mr. Crumpacker's
Political Scalp.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 1.—Contending that the vote of the "progressive" party is a negligible quantity in Indiana, the republican state committee issued a statement today predicting success at the polls next Tuesday. The statement, signed by Fred A. Sims, chairman of the state committee follows:

"The reports from all over the state to this committee are of the most encouraging character, indicating the strong trend of sentiment toward Mr. Taft and the whole republican ticket, which we confidently believe will sweep the state.

"There is no doubt that the contest in Indiana is between Mr. Taft and Mr. Wilson nationally and Col. Durbin and Mr. Ralston representing their respective state tickets.

"The vote of the progressive party is a negligible quantity except so far as it may detract votes from the two leading parties. From our reports we do not believe that they will carry a single county in the state."

Senator Shively and Ex-Governor Folk

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 1.—United States Senator Benjamin Shively, of South Bend, and former Governor Jos. W. Folk, of Missouri, left here today on a special train to campaign in the Ninth and Tenth congressional districts of Indiana. The main object is to work for the defeat of Representative Edgar D. Crumpacker, the only republican member of the national house from Indiana in the last congress. John B.

ELECTION NEWS AND GRISWOLD'S PICTURES NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT.

The Sentinel is making special arrangements to provide election returns next Tuesday evening, and the news will be flashed by special telegraph from the Sentinel building, on West Wayne street. The returns will be unusually complete, as both the Associated Press wires and the Sentinel's special wire service will be utilized in collecting returns from city, county, district, state and nation.

More than this, the program will include a large number of striking pictures by Cartoonist Griswold, illustrative of phases of the returns as they come in, and the Sentinel feels assured that the double program will be enjoyed.

You are very cordially invited to be the guest of The Sentinel on that occasion. There are no street railway tracks on West Wayne street to occasion discomfort and confusion to the audience which will be reading the outcome of the most notable campaign in many years.

TWO CAPTURED AT COLUMBUS

Thought to Be Implicated in $200,000 Canadian Bank Robbery.

SEEKING THIRD MAN

Columbus, O., Nov. 1.—H. E. Campbell and Joe P. Gavin, whom the police believe were implicated in the $200,000 bank robbery at New Westminster, Canada, were arrested here today.

The men were arrested by United States Deputy Marshal A. Baur when they entered the postoffice and asked for mail at the general delivery window. Private detectives are said to have followed the men to this city and to have notified the federal authorities of their presence here. Two of the men implicated in the robbery have been captured and $100,000 of the stolen money recovered. The men under arrest here will be held pending a thorough investigation. The police say that they answer the description of the men wanted.

Another man said to be wanted did not put in an appearance at the postoffice with Gavin and Campbell. He is said to be in Columbus and is being searched for by the police. Gavin claimed that he is a salesman of Chicago and Campbell says he is a salesman making Columbus his home.

The third man who is wanted by the police is said to be "Big Charley" Montague, of Chicago, wanted in that city for assaulting Police Lieut. Burns on Sept. 10. Gavin was at first believed to be Montague. Detective J. P. Cahill, of Chicago, is here today to return Montague to that city if he is captured.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 1.—Albert J. The slain man had objected to Patterson's attentions to his mother, whose husband is alive. Witnesses for the prosecution testified that Mrs. Bamberger upbraided and cursed her son while he lay dying on the pavement from knife wounds inflicted by Patterson. Sentence was deferred.

ALL READY FOR CLAPP MEETING

Senator Reaches City This Afternoon; Speaks
Tonight

AT PRINCESS RINK

Senator Moses E. Clapp, chairman of the senate committee conducting the investigation of campaign contributions, reached Fort Wayne at 4:20 o'clock this afternoon and after dinner at 6 o'clock at the Anthony hotel he will deliver an address at the progressive meeting to be held at Princess rink.

SEN. MOSES E. CLAPP AT PRINCESS RINK.

Mr. Clapp's address this evening will be a measure mark the close of the progressive speaking campaign in Allen county, as no other state or national speakers are booked for Fort Wayne between this date and next Tuesday.

The senator is the guest of a reception committee composed of leading progressives of Fort Wayne. One hundred vice presidents have been appointed by County Chairman Probie for the meeting tonight, and Theodore F. Thieme will preside as chairman.

Following his address at the rink, Senator Clapp will speak at an overflow meeting to be held at the court house. Local speakers will entertain the crowds until Mr. Clapp arrives from the rink.

OLD WALLS RESIST DYNAMITE.

Danville, Ind., Nov. 1.—The contractors wrecking the old court house attempted to dynamite the outer walls and a large charge was placed under the northwest corner. The blast did not shake the walls but scores of windows in the business houses were shattered. Contractor McCormick says he never has seen an old building so well preserved.

STATE RESTS IN TRIAL AT SALEM

Direct Evidence Against Accused Trio Now
Complete.

PAMPHLET IS READ

Salem, Mass., Nov. 1.—The commonwealth today rested its case in the trial of Joseph J. Eitor, Arturo Giovannitti and Joseph Caruso, charged with responsibility for the murder of Anna Lipozzo during the Lawrence textile strike last winter. The prosecution presented testimony from nearly a hundred witnesses. A brief recess by the court was ordered. Before court convened Detective La Cour, who testified yesterday that Caruso told him he stabbed a "big, fat policeman," was brought into the room to see if he could identify the spectators whom he claimed had hissed him after he had left the stand. La Cour said those who hissed him were not in court today.

District Attorney Atwill completed the reading of the pamphlet relating to the Industrial Workers of the World, which was introduced in evidence.

The chapter devoted to "tactics and methods" set forth that the Industrial Workers of the World "use any and all tactics to get the results sought" in industrial disputes; that "the question of right and wrong does not concern us"; that "sabotage is used to force employers to concede the demands of the workers" and advocate "militant, direct action to the full extent."

The pamphlet also outlined the history of several big strikes conducted by the organization.

Attorneys for the defendants then planned to move that the case be taken from the jury. If this was denied the intention was to outline to the jury the contentions of the defense, and to begin the introduction of testimony on behalf of the defendants tomorrow.

Bullet in Evidence.
Before closing the commonwealth offered in evidence the bullet which killed Anna Lipozzo and other exhibits in the case.

Following the recess and conference of counsel for the three defendants, W. Scott Peters, counsel for Giovannitti, moved that all testimony relating to his client, except that concerning the speech urging the strikers to "prowl like wild animals at night," be expunged from the record. Mr. Peters declared that evidence against his client was insufficient. He asserted that the evidence in the case implicating Giovannitti in the killing was "not enough to hang a hair on."

Judge Quinn announced that he did not think there was a "very strong disposition to rest this case at the present time," but that he would rule on the motions if counsel insisted. Counsel agreed to renew motions later.

MRS. CONWAY ADMITS GUILT

Has Confessed Knowledge of Singer Murder, Say
Chicago Police.

BREAKS DOWN; SAYS "CHARLIE DID IT!"

Woman Arrested at Lima,
O., Relates Details of Brutal Slaying.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Confession of the murder of Miss Sophia G. Singer, the Baltimore heiress who eloped to Chicago with William R. Worthen and was killed on the day before she was to have been married, was reported by the police to have been obtained today from Mrs. Lillian Bryce Conway, who, with Charles N. Conway, the circus clown and high diver, was brought here from Lima, O., earlier in the day.

"She has admitted knowledge of the murder," said the police official who announced the confession, "but says she had little to do with it."

"She says that Conway knocked the Singer girl down with an improvised billy made of a doorknob in a handkerchief and with a shoelace as a handle, with the intention of robbing her."

Thought She Had More Money.
"We thought she had more money than she did," continued the officer's account of the woman's story. "Charlie did it. All I did was to throw the blanket over her when we left. I didn't think she was dead."

She then told the officials that she would tell the whole story and they sent for a stenographer.

Wm. R. Worthen, fiancé of the Singer girl, who has been held by the police pending clearing the mystery though they accepted his story of innocence, became hysterical with joy when the news was taken to him.

Worthen Hysterical With Joy.
"Thank God they have confessed," he shouted. "Now I am cleared and my father and mother will be comforted with the knowledge that I had no hand in the brutal murder. I can go back to Baltimore now with clean hands. I knew they did it. I told Mrs. Conway so when I saw her this morning. Now Conway might as well confess."

It was announced that Conway would be given an opportunity to tell his side of the case after a copy of the woman's story could be prepared so that Conway might read it.

Arrive in Chicago.
Conway and his wife arrived here today. The prisoners were taken at once to the office of Capt. John J. Halpin, chief of detectives. A cab had been provided to convey Mrs. Conway to police headquarters. The husband, handcuffed, was taken on a street car. Half an hour after reaching Captain Halpin's office the Conways were taken to the Stanton avenue police station, not far from the rooming house in which the murder was committed.

Changing their plans the police brought Worthen into the room after they had talked to the actress only a few moments. Worthen was told to say nothing but to listen.

Worthen Confronts Woman.
Unable to stand the strain, however, in a few minutes Worthen broke out in bitter denunciation of Mrs. Conway and his voice could be heard throughout the police station as he shouted:
"You know you did it. You both did it. You know you killed my Sophia." The woman cried aloud and became hysterical, shouting: "It's not so. It's not so. You know you killed her yourself."

FEAR NOW IS OF MASSACRE

Retreat of Routed Turkish
Army May Put Christians in Peril.

FALLING BACK FOR THE FINAL STAND

Remaining Line of Defense is But 25 Miles from Constantinople.

London, Nov. 1.—The Turkish army on which the fate of the Ottoman empire depended has been outgeneraled and outfought. It has made what is believed to be the last stand against the victorious Bulgarians and is now falling back in disorder on its final line of defense at the forts of Tchatalja, twenty-five miles only from Constantinople.

The Bulgarians are not likely to give the Turks much time to reorganize. Foreigners in Constantinople are fearful for the Christian population of the Turkish towns, and the European powers have taken steps in this connection by the dispatch of warships to Saloniki, Constantinople and other Turkish ports for the protection of people of their nationalities.

Pressing Question of Moment.
This is the most pressing question of the moment. One correspondent in Constantinople voices the fear of Europeans in that city that the Turkish retreat from Tchatalja might result in massacres and pillage by what is no longer an army but a mob.

The Servians having completed the occupation of Macedonia, are establishing civil administrations there and releasing some of their troops to go to the assistance of their allies at Adrianople and for an attack on Saloniki. On the latter place armies are converging from three directions.

Greeks Sink Warship.
The Greeks too, are taking the offensive and, having occupied an island in the Aegean sea conveniently located for attack have put out a communique.

COLDER TONIGHT SAYS W. S. PALMER

We Might Get a Little Snow
Also If It Doesn't Clear Up.

WAS NEAR FREEZING

You may just as well get out your base burner, order that other ton of coal and keep the fire going in the furnace, for the cold weather is to remain with us for some time, according to W. S. Palmer, local forecaster.

The fact is that the thermometer is going to drop some more tonight, and the mercury will pass the freezing point. Unless the skies clear, we are liable to get a little snow, as it is in the air. Several calls at the weather station ask those in charge if there was not a little snow this morning. Mr. Palmer states, however, that it was not quite cold enough, although the thermometer this morning registered 34 degrees at the lowest mark.

Snow is reported from the entire north and Mr. Palmer declares it is likely to snow in northern Indiana tonight if the sky remains cloudy.

A Story From Antwerp

HERE is a little story that traveled all the way from Antwerp, Ohio. The heroine is winsome little Eula Graves, the four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Graves, prominent residents of Antwerp.

The other evening, Eula, with her parents, was returning from an evening at the home of relatives. It was one of those moonlight nights in which the shadows of the trees stretched out in weird, fantastic forms, and the bushes and buildings cast large patches of deep gloom that cause one to look twice to decide whether the shadows are real shadows or bunches of real scare.

It was some such thought as this that came to Eula, while the parents were discussing other irrelevant matters, and when she gave a startled cry and asked to be clasped in the protecting arms of her father there was no delay in affording the desired protection.

"What is it, Eula?" asked her mother.

"Beats," replied the little girl with a frightened look backward at a large patch of shadow beside the walk.

"On, no," said the father in reassuring tones, "and we'll go right back on you can see there are no bears in the shadow. There aren't any bears running around loose any more, and there's no need of getting frightened."

"Well, papa," said the little girl, thoughtfully, "I am glad there aren't any bears any more to scare little girls, but aren't there lots of bull mooses, papa, and isn't anybody afraid of them?"

This almost floored papa, who had to admit that there might be some truth in the implied condition.

CLOTHES CAN BE SEEN AT STATION

Garments Found on River Bank Are Held by the Police.

NOTHING TO WORK ON

In the hope that somebody will call and examine and identify clothing found on the bank of St. Mary's river 500 feet south of the Wabash bridge Thursday and explain how they got there, the garments are being held at police headquarters while the officers are endeavoring to find if any woman to whom they might have belonged is missing.

There is a one-piece dress of lawn that at one time was figured but the figures have faded but were probably black. There is a row of inserting and some small tucks at the waist. In addition there is a white waste well worn and with a peplum attached. This has big white pearl buttons.

There is also a suit of union underwear with short sleeves and which is also worn but had been patched. Other undergarments and a gingham apron complete the outfit. The apron is of gingham with large blue and white checks and a piece a foot square has been torn from the front.

This is of the kind that extends over the front of the dress to the shoulders. The clothes look like they had been worn a very short time after they were laundered and while there may be no crime connected with the find the Walker case is still so fresh in the minds of the police that this will be carefully investigated.

There was a pool of blood near where part of the clothing was found and this was trickling down the river bank. The clothes had lain there for some time as they were wet from the rain yesterday. One thing that puzzles the police is that neither shoes, stockings or a corset were found.

If a body had been discovered there after murder had been committed it would have been necessary to have removed both stockings, shoes and corset before taking off the union suit as the legs of the garment extended to the ankles of the wearer.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

One of the much enjoyed Halloween parties was the one at the home of Miss Margaret Woodworth, of LaSalle street, last evening. The decorations were appropriate, lanterns, bright colored leaves, cornstalks and yellow and black favors. The guests enjoyed games and a delicious supper. Those present were the Misses Marie Jehl, Carrie Meyers, Selma Rosenberg, Veronica Genth, Florence Freiburger, Mary and Margaret Woodworth and Messrs. Fred Kuapp, Cleo Swager, Earnest Darling, Frank Hardendorf, Urban Arnold, Sylvester Klotz, Xavier Klingenberg, of Bucyrus, O. The O. C. F. club furnished music accompanied by Miss Florence Freiburger at the piano.

The B. O. S. club entertained friends at a Halloween party at the home of Miss Clara Zollinger, of Wabash avenue. The rooms were decorated with pretty effects in jack-lanterns and other novelties and branches of autumn leaves. Yellow shades on the lights and green vines festooned about the walls further contributed to the prettiness of the scene. The dining room was in red and a make-believe moon, bats and black cats, tomatoes used as candleholders and pumpkin blossom favors were some of the things that captivated the attention of the company. There were covers for twenty. The centerpiece of the table was a large pumpkin lantern. Prizes in games were won by Miss Nellie Steele, Jack Brenning, Miss Amanda Meisner and William Foester. There were present Misses Carrie Boegel, Clara Zollinger, Doris Hunt, Esther Boegel, Marguerite Jones, Katherine Eiter, Lora Gollmeyer, Amanda Meisner, Elvora Heckolmeyer and Messrs. Waldo Rich, Robert Anderson, Andrew Cable, William Foester, Henry Schnorr, Jack Brenning, Harry Zimmerman, Walter Wolf, Walter Berkhold, Clarence Seabold.

Leary and Halloween as a combination proved a success when forty young people from here and around New Haven on Wednesday to dance. The hall had been artistically decorated the previous evening with cornstalks, oak branches and pumpkins in the shape of jack-o'-lanterns. The programs were pretty little conceits, suggestive of the day and, as befitting a leap year party, were filled by the girls. Refreshments were served between dances and those who participated in this affair were the Misses Loretta Hayes, May Centlivre, Marie Kelly, Irma Malone, Fannie Matson, Marie Pierre, Dorothy Kilgore, Clara and Anna Melching, Leona Wilkinson, Henrietta Loeffler, Mable and Eva Smith, Myrtle Matson, Ruth Furst, Bonnie Druhot, Cornelia Fockinger, Irene Woubekun and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Misner, Erwin Ruff, Mrs. Hayes, Ed Dwyer, Louis Baker, Jim McDougall, Raymond Druhot, Homer Miller, Geo. Mrs. John Riedmiller, of West Wayne street, will leave within a few days for Toledo, Ohio, to make her home with her parents, who live there.

Many of the friends of Miss Laura Snowberger have been surprised to hear of her recent marriage. Cards have been received from Mrs. Hannah Snowberger announcing the marriage of her daughter, Laura Elizabeth, to Arthur B. Geary. The wedding took place at Annandale, Mont., on Saturday, October 19, the day after Mrs. Snowberger and her daughter arrived there from this city. The bride taught in the kindergarten departments of the Hoagland school for years and had many friends here outside of school circles, as well as in them. Mrs. Snowberger and her daughter sold their property here and went to Montana. Their friends here had no intimation of Miss Snowberger's matrimonial intentions.

Mrs. W. H. Babcock, of Canton, Ill., and Miss Mabel Martin, of Fisher, Ill., are visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson of South Broadway. Mr. Babcock was a sharpshooter in the civil war and guarded Abraham Lincoln's conspirators at Washington, D. C. Miss Edith Hartman, of 1293 Cresscent avenue, was hostess for a Halloween party last evening. The rooms were decorated with cornstalks, yellow and black festoons and pumpkins. A fine luncheon was served on a beautifully decorated table with yellow candles and pretty place cards to trim it. There were present the Misses Estella Busch, Clara Dale, Marie Burg, Hilda Pape, Malinda Irmscher, Edith Hartman and Richard Burg, Roland Leidolf, Edwin Lepper, Arno Burg, Ed Kreuckenberg and Ed Breiner.

A Country Party.
A jolly company of young people spent a delightful time on Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Eleanor King, three miles south of Ossian. Miss King was assisted in entertaining her guests by Miss Lillian Marsh. From the station to the King home the guests were conveyed in a hayrack and that but sharpened wits and lent keenness to their appetite for supper. Games appropriate to the occasion were played. In the company were the Misses Lillith Gaskill, Mary Michel, Helen Eiker, Elsie Linnecuer, Lucile Cook, Maude Bamhouse, Louise Eiker, Maude Heaston, Leone Marsh, Lucinda Auer, Helen Medsker, Pearl King and Messrs. JURORS LISTEN TO 700 LETTERS

Misgives Taken from Iron Workers' Offices Read in Dynamite Case.

M'MANIGAL IS NEXT

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—Seven hundred letters were brought before the jury in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today to be read as evidence against the forty-five defendants. They were the correspondence taken from the office of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers after J. J. McNamara's arrest.

It is charged by the government that the letters, selected from 30,000 others, show that for five years Frank M. Ryan, president of the union, and the other defendants corresponded about "jobs" that were to be blown up.

Many of the letters which, the government asserts, tend to show a conspiracy illegally to transport explosives on passenger trains, were included in the indictment and already have been made public. District Attorney C. W. Miller said he expected to read all the letters before Orrie E. McManigal, the government's chief witness, testifies.

WILLIAMS WILL RECOVER.

He was picked up by his brother, Leonard, who also had a load of logs, but was driving some distance behind. The injured man was hurried to St. Joseph's hospital, where he was attended by Dr. J. M. Dinnan. Williams has several bad bruises about the head and body, but no bones were broken.

Again we urge you to trade early in the day tomorrow. We expect a very busy day. Outside people and shopmen are obliged to trade afterwards so if you can come early we will appreciate it.

DEVELOPS A SENSATION.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—A sensation developed today in Interstate commerce commission in James S. Harlan's investigation into the relations between officers of the New York Central lines and certain Illinois coal mines. An accusation was made that carbon copies of invoices which purported to show that the $60,000 paid to the O'Garra Coal company, in which the railroad officials had financial interest, was for lost coal, had been altered.

OPERA SINGER BADLY HURT.

New York, Nov. 1.—Miss Lydia Locke, an opera singer, well known in New York and London, was perhaps fatally hurt early today in an automobile collision here which followed a late, howe's party. Dwight Dana, a chauffeur, was seriously hurt. Three other men and two women were badly shaken up.

BURGLAR GOT IN VIA COAL CHUTE

Took $18 of A. C. Aurentz's
Money and Left Through a Ventilator.

GOT INTO A SALOON

A. C. Aurentz thinks that the burglar who got $18 of his money from two cash registers in his candy store on Calhoun street Thursday night entered via the coal chute in the sidewalk as he can figure no other way by which any burglar, no matter how astute and experienced he might have been, could have forced an entrance.

The cover to the chute was not fastened from the inside. There was no evidence that anybody had forced either the front or side door, but a screen was torn from a ventilator under the front window and he thinks that's the way the fellow got out.

The store is in the heart of the city, opposite a restaurant that is kept open all night, and how anybody could have gone through the chute, replaced the lid and gotten out without being detected is hard to figure.

Burglars also visited Richard Frank's saloon at Calhoun and Woodland avenue. There they got two gallons of brandy, some plug tobacco and smoking tobacco and some cigarettes. There was no money in the place.

We are ahead of the times as usual, with a large showing of boys' fine overcoats for girls; the mannish style is the very thing girls want.

CUBAN ELECTION GOING QUIETLY

Island Republic Votes for First Time Without Liquor-Selling.

NO TROUBLE 'ENSUES

Havana, Nov. 1.—The day of the general election on which the fate of the Cuban republic is believed to depend, opened auspiciously. Despite the almost unanimous predictions that the event would be marked by nation-wide disorders the hope is now rising that whatever the result of the election may be the registering of the popular vote will be effected in exemplary order.

The voting began at 6 o'clock and will continue to sundown. Many voters awaited the opening of the polls to cast their ballots, and these were compelled to disperse immediately afterward by squads of police and militia.

For the first time in the history of Cuba the sale of alcoholic liquors was prohibited, all bars and cafes being closed by presidential decree during the time of polling.

Another decree prohibited the carrying of arms of any kind, even the lightest walking canes being included.

The total number of registered voters in the republic is 628,356, of whom it is thought that probably only 70 per cent. will go to the polls.

GASOLENE SCHOONER LOST.

San Francisco, Nov. 1.—The gasolene schooner Osprey, forty-three tons gross register, struck the north jetty at the entrance of Coos bay early today and was lost with all hands. The message to the chamber of commerce did not state how many men she carried, but she is believed to have had a crew of four.

OLD RIVER BOATMAN DIES.

FEAR FOR BALLOONISTS.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—It is feared that the balloon Duesseldorf with the two American aeronauts attempted to cross the Baltic sea. A belated report from Stratsund says a balloon was sighted on Oct. 28 high above the Baltic going eastward.

The complete absence of news in regard to her movements since she started on Sunday last from Stuttgart in the race for the international balloon trophy is causing considerable disquietude. Inquiries have been telegraphed in all directions, but without result. It is thought in aeronautical circles that the Duesseldorf may have landed in a remote part of Russia and it is pointed out that in the case of the French balloon, Ile de France, the news of the landing was not received for sixty hours after it occurred.

HOTEL WORKERS STRIKE.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Members of the International Hotel Workers' union, who went on a strike last night for an increase in wages and improvement in working conditions, police are on guard. So far there has been no disturbance. The men claim that 400 employees have left their positions and the hotel men say 125 are out.

Can You Hear Moonlight or Sunshine? If You Can't, Better Get an Optophone.

If a fellow was to tell you he could hear your face would you get sore, or would you politely ask him how loudly the sun was shining?

Of course, any one who could hear your face or your clothes could hear the sunshine and the moonbeams and the dainty white skirt tripping sweetly up the street, for he would have an optophone.

An optophone? Exactly. The device that makes light audible, invented by Fournier d'Albe and exhibited by him to the members of the Royal society in London.

The apparatus enables the totally blind to hear the light they cannot see. It enables them to locate windows or open doors in a house and to locate persons whose clothing is either much darker or much lighter than their surroundings.

The optophone is a small box, something like a camera, which the blind man carries in front of him. A hand-band holds the telephone to his ear. Through a small hole light is thrown upon the selenium cell which produces an electrical current interrupted by a special clockwork interrupter, and so made audible in the telephone.

On a bright moonlight night the moon sounds quite loudly, but for real noise try to hear the sun shine! One bright sunbeam can make more noise in an optophone than a Niagara Falls. An electric light on a black background sounds like a boiler factory.

The inventor believes that with an optophone a blind person may get around much better than he now can, for the optophone will tell him where an object begins and where it leaves off. With that apparatus a blind person, says the inventor, can hear the light of stars invisible through the telescope.

Vapor Treatment for Catarrh Colds and Coughs

The HYOMEI vapor treatment is especially recommended in stubborn cases of chronic catarrh of long standing, but remember that the inhaler should be used daily as usual.

This treatment only takes a few minutes time before going to bed. Pour a scant teaspoonful of Booth's HYOMEI into a kitchen bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with towel and breathe for several minutes the vapor that arises.

You will be surprised at the results of this treatment; it makes the head feel fine and clear.

This method is also used to break up the worst cold in the head over night.

A bottle of Booth's HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-me) costs 50 cents at Meyer Bros. Co. and druggists everywhere. Complete outfit, which includes the little pocket inhaler, $1.00.

No stomach dosing; just breathe; it is guaranteed to end catarrh and all diseases of the breathing organs. Booth's HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-me) is Australian Eucalyptus combined with Listerian Antiseptics that destroy catarrh germs and soothe and heal the sore membrane.—Adv.

THINKS SCHOOLS CURE FOR CRIME

Detective Believes Education Will Solve the Problem.

CITES THE CAUSES

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 1.—"Every child is born a thief."

"Criminals, to an alarming extent, are the men and women who have never been educated to do right or to clearly realize the penalty of crime."

"The place to stop the growth of crime is at home and in the school room."

"Criminology is as important a branch of school study as spelling, arithmetic or geography."

—Martin J. Burns, Captain Spokane Police Detectives.

From the experience and study of years, Martin J. Burns, captain of Spokane police detectives, has compiled his theories regarding present day crime, and in a recommendation to the school board of Spokane county that criminology be adopted as a regular branch of study in the public schools, has set them forth and backed them by his arguments.

Burns is possessed of a deeper understanding of the criminal than perhaps any other man in the northwest. To him a criminal is something more than a mere violator of the laws laid down by a community. He is a species—as distinct from the law-abiding, rational human being as the amphibian from the mammal. Captain Burns has divided and subdivided the species until he believes he is at the very root of their being. He says:

"There are three causes for crime: Whisky, poverty and ignorance. The whisky and poverty we are not in a position to deal with successfully at this time, but the ignorance—yes. Teach the boy and the girl what crime is, what constitutes a crime, and where it leads. Let them know what they are going up against."

"I say every child is a thief. I make this statement unreservedly. No matter where he is born, under what conditions or of what parents, he is a thief. He will steal anything he wants, provided the opportunity presents. It is natural—instinctive. If this instinct is not curbed in him when he is young,

COMBINATION

The word "combination" is not here used in its ordinary, modern, business sense.

It has reference to the happy combination that has made this bank the great success that everyone knows it to have been.

It refers to the fact that the officers are practical and successful bankers, while the directors are practical and successful business men.

That makes a combination mighty hard to beat, especially when the officers and directors all pull together.

This bank also combines the safety of a national bank with the conveniences of a savings bank. It maintains a saving department where interest is paid at the rate of 4 per cent.

No Need to Fear Sudden Downpour in Paris.

New York, Nov. 1.—In New York when it rains we have the small boy or the dreary-looking man standing at subway and theater entrances with a bundle of bulgy umbrellas, one of which you may buy for 50 cents. You are glad to have it in the emergency, but once get it home and you couldn't be hired to take it out again. So next time it rains suddenly you buy another one for 50 cents.

In Paris this summer a group of men formed a company for the purpose of profiting by the borrowed umbrella. Supplies of cheap but durable umbrellas were placed in cafes, theaters, drug stores, tobacco shops and similar places all over the city. Upon payment of $1 a citizen receives a numbered metal check which is exchangeable for an umbrella at any of these depots. When the sun comes out again he steps into the nearest umbrella depot and turns in his umbrella, receiving another numbered check which may be exchanged for another umbrella whenever he has need of it.

Automobiles in the Streets.

Fort Wayne is rapidly coming face to face with a new automobile problem—what to do with the cars while they are left standing in the down-town streets. It is a new phase of the traffic problem for which some solution will have to be devised in the interest of public safety. The automobile, like its predecessor, the bicycle, is coming to be invaluable as a business adjunct quite apart from its use as a pleasure vehicle. Scores of men in real estate and other lines find the machines indispensable. Naturally these cars center about the down-town business and office district. When not in use they are parked upon the streets adjacent to office buildings, and the increasing numbers constitute a condition that must be reckoned with, particularly in the case of streets as narrow as those in Fort Wayne.

Even now East Berry street, from Calhoun to Clinton, and Court street for its entire length are during the busiest hours of the day flanked on either side by a continuous line of parked autos that inevitably narrow the space open to traffic seriously. In the event of necessity for a fire department run through this district, or an alarm from any of the buildings along the line, the situation might spell infinite danger during the rush hours as well as hamper the firemen in their work. There should be no disposition to work a hardship upon the owners of the machines, and when they were fewer in number there was little occasion for serious objection, but the parking of scores of the machines upon narrow business streets where traffic is heavy amounts in effect to a continuous obstruction that can not be much longer tolerated because it is daily growing worse. Perhaps a solution may be found in a regulation as to the time any machine may be allowed to stand in the down-town street. At any rate the situation is one that calls for serious consideration.

Voters can support the Allen county democratic county ticket this year with the confident assurance that it is worthy of support. It is made up of candidates whose calibre and standing promise a high grade of public service and unquestioned fealty to the public interest. They represent, too, the expressed choice of democratic voters in a fair and free primary in which every democrat had the opportunity of a voice in the selection. The ticket is distinctly one of the very best ever presented to the people.

Twelfth district democrats, and hundreds of republicans as well, will not overlook the fact next Tuesday that on the democratic state ticket is a candidate in whom they have a warm personal interest—Judge Richard K. Erwin, of this city, nominee for judge of the supreme court for the Fourth district. It should be a matter of genuine pride in the Twelfth district to give Judge Erwin a majority that will set the pace for the remainder of the state even in a year when every prospect is for some phenomenal figures in that direction.

Chicago is now making a rather belated demonstration of the fact that there are some things it will not stand for by fighting the renewal of Jack Johnson's saloon license. Chicago made its mistake by ever allowing the colored pugilist to go into the traffic that seems to be the inevitable haven of a large proportion of the pugilistic fraternity.

FEWER WORLD'S FAIRS.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch.)

World's fairs have been so frequent in the past decade or two that they have lost most of their standing as an attraction or an exhibition of progress. And it must be confessed that this country has been particularly prolific with them. In fact, so rapidly did they follow one another that finally the overwhelming chances of a deficit and the lessening chances of obtaining an appropriation checked their promotion.

Further insurance against a surfeit of world's fairs is, however, promised by the action of the exposition congress which has just met at Berlin with representatives from all the leading nations. A resolution was adopted prohibiting general expositions except at intervals of three years and of ten years in the same country. This means, of course, that the governments will not officially recognize world's fairs held in violation of this agreement, and since the participation of nations is needed to make the exposition effective it will necessarily put a period to the overdoing of these exhibitions.

In ten years a country can have made progress that may justify holding an exhibit of achievement and the public will have had time to acquire an appetite for another. Awards to exhibitors will be worth more and the public treasury will get a much needed rest.

OUR BEEF IN LONDON.

(New York Witness.)

The Sun gives a list of prices of different cuts of beef on the same day in New York and in London. It quotes American sirloin in London, August 23, at 10 1/2 cents and in New York at 23 cents. If it was true that prices are high here because of scarcity, why should any of our meat go abroad to sell at much lower prices than we have to pay?

It is the same with other things. You can buy American watches, for instance, cheaper in London than in New York. Our manufacturers combine and put prices up on the consumers or users in this country, where they are protected from foreign competition, but when dealing with foreigners, on foreign ground, where they have to face competition, they find themselves quite able to meet that competition.

Their plea is that it is only surplus stocks that are exported, to keep the factories going throughout the year; but the above quotations for beef show the fallacy of this plea. There would be plenty of demand in this country for all the beef produced in it, if it was offered at fair prices; and the fact that it is sold much cheaper in London than in New York shows that the price in this country has been forced up by combination. With an open market, prices would level themselves, and beef raised in this country would be cheaper at wholesale in New York than in London. It would not be cheaper at retail, because it costs more to retail food in this country than it does in England.

ONE OF LIFE'S DUTIES.

(Youngstown, O., Vindicator.)

In one of the papers in South Bend the school children the other day wrote on the needs of the city, and among the many needs mentioned was that of pensions for dependent mothers, the greater number of the children writing on this one need.

Leave it to the child to find the need.

It is not strange that the children of South Bend should mention this one need, for they have needs themselves and upon them fall the hardships where the mother is left to face the world and the responsibility of bringing them up and giving them an education to fit them to make their way. A mother left with a family of little ones generally manages to keep them together, but so frequently the father left under the same circumstances lets the little ones scatter.

Pensions for dependent mothers are all right, but many a father could do better than is done in providing against the day when the income stops. Life insurance costs less when taken out at an early age than when taken out years afterward. Every young man owes it to himself and to those who may come to be dependent upon him to make some sort of provision against accident, sickness or death. He wouldn't think of carrying himself the risk on his property.

THE LOYAL SEX.

(New York World.)

Analysis of the cases heard by the Chicago court of domestic relations shows that while an "incredible number" of men exhibit no scruple in abandoning their wives and children in adversity, "almost no women desert their families under pressure of want."

This is of course only statistical corroboration of popular belief. Whatever masculine criticism has been levelled at women on the score of fads and follies, it has stopped short of questioning their loyalty and devotion to home and children. These are the vital objects of feminine concern, and where their welfare is at stake, women are ready to make sacrifices and undergo a privation of which men are constitutionally incapable.

If the female of the species is dearer than the male, she is also in all animate nature truer to the ties of kindred. Man may excel in heroic devotion to a cause or principle, but the best quality of his courage cannot match that of woman's unswerving fidelity, at the cost of hunger and self-denial and even life itself, to those dependent on her.

Cyprus, which wishes to unite with Greece, is only nominally Turkish, for since 1878 the whole of the administrative power has been wielded by Great Britain. The island was captured by the Turks in 1570, when Selim II, with an army of sixty thousand, conquered it.

Editor Sentinel:

On all matters of unusual importance, and particularly on matters involving an increase in the tax levy, I feel that the people should get together in the school houses of their respective neighborhoods and discuss thoroughly the question which is up for discussion. When the people have decided what they want then, in my opinion, all county officials should be governed by the wishes of the people as expressed in these school house meetings.

REPUBLICANS TO CEASE SPEAKING

Nothing But Noon Meetings During Remainder of Campaign

IN ALLEN COUNTY

Except for the noonday meetings at the different shops of the city, the republican speaking campaign in Allen county is ended. Announcement was made at headquarters this morning that no more night meetings will be held either in the city or country, and the only republican oratory to be fired at the voters will be handed out at the factory meetings at noon.

Since the actual opening of the campaign republican meetings have been held in each ward of the city and in every township in Allen county. Some of the townships have been favored with two meetings, and it is believed by the party leaders that the voters should now be allowed to think about what they have heard, therefore no meetings have been scheduled.

Reams upon reams of paper bearing campaign literature is being sent out, however, and by election day almost every voter of the county will have received enough campaign posters, papers, pamphlets and other documents, from all the parties, to keep him in reading material until the next national campaign.

District Meetings Continue.

Republican meetings throughout the Twelfth district, however, will not cease at this time. The district leaders plan to continue the speaking campaign until the night before election. Speakers of merit have been assigned to every county for tonight and Saturday night, and the voters will be given final words of invitation urging them to vote for Mr. Taft.

One of the district speakers is William L. "Billy" Taylor, who is to address a meeting tonight at Angola.

Loesch Sees Victory.

Declaring that the republican party has no more to fear from the bull moose than has the democratic party, George H. Loesch, chairman of the Allen county republicans, this morning predicted a Taft victory in this county. He believes that the republican ticket will meet the approval of the voters.

In announcing that the republican have stopped their campaign of speeches in Fort Wayne Mr. Loesch said:

"The republican organization is not scared by the bull moose movement. It does not mean any more to us than it does to the democrats, for the loss of republicans who have fled to the progressive ranks will be made up to us next Tuesday by the democrats who intend to vote for Taft."

"Reports from all over the county are favorable. The progressives are coming back to the regular ranks. Some of the alleged bull moose leaders are with us now and are privately working for the success of the republican party."

Neon Meetings.

Francis E. Moore, candidate for state representative, addressed a republican meeting at noon today at the Fort Wayne Electric works. Another meeting held at the Packard company's plant was addressed by D. Burns Douglass, candidate for prosecuting attorney, and Dick Vesey.

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS.

Four Noonday Gatherings Held About the City.

Four noon meetings were held today at different industrial institutions of the city. Prosecuting Attorney H. H. Hilgeman and Judge R. K. Erwin delivered addresses at the Wabash shops; a meeting at Bowser's was addressed by John W. Eggeman and William Freuchtenicht, and ex-Mayor William J. Hoesy and Guy Colerick spoke at the corner of Clinton and Holman streets before an audience composed of Pennsylvania shopmen.

One of the best attended meetings was held at the Wayne Knitting mills and was addressed by Senator Dill, of Arkansas, who is in Allen county for a series of campaign speeches.

The Jefferson club at its meeting this evening will hear an address which will deal chiefly with the political situation in Wisconsin. The speaker will be William Butt, a student in political economy at the University of Wisconsin.

Tomorrow night the Jefferson club will go to Decatur to attend a democratic rally. Among the speakers will be Senator Fleming and Hon. James M. Robinson. Members of the club will leave for Decatur at 6:15 o'clock.

Democratic meetings to be held in Allen county tomorrow night are as follows: Grabill, speakers, Edward G. Hoffman and Judge Edward O'Rourke; Woodburn, speakers, Anselm Fuelber and Maurice C. Niezer.

FEAR NOW IS

Turkish warship by torpedoing her during the night. The belief is held by some diplomats here that the Bulgarian army will be impelled to occupy Constantinople by military and other considerations. While the Bulgarians disclaim any ambition to retain Constantinople they consider the best way of arranging peace will be to dictate it to Turkey in its own capital. The Bulgarian army will also be able at the same time to protect the Christian residents there.

TURKS OUTNUMBER FOES.

Bulgarian Victory Won by Vastly Inferior Numbers.

Sofia, Nov. 1.—Details thus far of the rout of the immense Turkish army by the Bulgarians show that the Turkish forces were numerically far inferior. The Turkish army is reported to have aggregated two hundred thousand men. It included the garrison which had retreated from the captured fortress of Kirk-Kiliseh, as well as the main body of Turkish troops which had advanced from Constantinople. It comprised practically the whole of the Turkish troops remaining in Europe apart from the garrisons of Adrianople, Saloniki, Monastir, Jani, Scutari and a few other towns.

This great army was under the personal command of Nazim Pasha, minister of war and commander in chief, who was assisted by some of the ablest Turkish generals serving in the army at the present moment.

The fight opened with the discovery by the Turks of a number of Bulgarian cavalry scouts. The Turks drew in their outposts, and these were closely followed by Bulgarian skirmishers, who were succeeded by the main Bulgarian army in fighting formation.

The battle, which was destined to last several days and result in the defeat of the Turks, was soon in progress all along the line.

The Bulgarian troops repeatedly delivered fierce attacks, sometimes at one point, sometimes at another, along the Turkish lines, extending from Lule Burgas to Serai.

The Turkish troops offered a stubborn and desperate resistance, but were unable to withstand the onslaught of the impetuous Bulgarians, and finally they turned and fled in great disorder toward Tchokru, in the south.

The losses of the Ottoman army are reported to have been enormous in dead, wounded and prisoners, as well as ammunition and other supplies.

The capture of a third Turkish military train near Lule Burgas before the battle was an immense advantage to the Bulgarians, as it furnished them with more facilities for the transport of their troops and supplies to the district where the fighting took place.

MRS. CONWAY

This continued several minutes, the police interfering to advise the two to leave off pretense and tell the truth. Then all was quiet and a detective came out for water for Mrs. Conway. She had become faint under the strain and the officials directed that the inquirers be not too severe with her.

On Verge of Hysteria.

Conway refused to talk, more than to reply in monosyllables to questions not involving the crime for which he is held. Mr. Conway, apparently nervous and ill at ease, was less reticent and from her the police said they expected the first break. She talked with her captors on the way to the police station, but their refusal to reply and their constant stares at her wore on her nerves and she was on the verge of hysteria when Lieut. Michael Crotty, at the station where Worthen is locked up, began questioning her.

Capt. John Halpin, whose telegrams caused their arrest, sat by and watched the woman steadily. One by one the blood-stained objects found in the room where Miss Singer was murdered were brought out, and she was asked what she knew about each of them. Later the police planned to confront her with Worthen and to question Conway regarding the same articles. Already their stories had begun to diverge, the police said.

Expected a Confession.

The Chicago detectives appear to believe that a confession will be made by Mrs. Conway and possibly by her husband, before they have been long in the city where the murder occurred. Although both clung to their original stories when questioned last night, they appeared more nervous than during the first ordeal.

Last night the detectives heard a lengthy statement from Mrs. Conway, who recited in detail their actions on the night of the murder and their movements thereafter. She declared that Miss Singer had told her she was tired of her fiancé, William Worthen, and was to meet a man whom Mrs. Conway believed to be Claude Stillman.

She said that Miss Singer exhibited to her husband an iron door-knob, wrapped up in a handkerchief and said that she would get the man whom she was to meet in a lonely place and wanted Conway to hit him with it so she could "get his roll."

This, Mrs. Conway said, her husband declined to do and they left Chicago that night and did not hear of the murder until later.

Democratic Inspectors and Judges will meet at Democratic headquarters Saturday, 1:30 p. m.

PUTTING UP TELEPHONE CABLE.

Home Telephone Company Making Improvements on Broadway.

The Home Telephone and Telegraph company is engaged in stringing cable on Broadway from Home avenue south to the bridge. At present the wires are open. The improvement, with other repairs, will take about two months time for completion, and will cost $6,000. The open wires cause the company much trouble, and the work is being done to avoid the numerous breaks and other damages to the wires. The current for service in that section will be furnished through that cable.

WABASH ASKS TO CARRY OUT WORK

Desires to Put in Finished Concrete as Long as Possible.

KEEP STREET OPEN

Officials of the Wabash, Chairman Frank T. Besoy, of the board of public works, and City Engineer Randall spent part of the day trying to arrange a plan by which the Wabash company can continue putting in finished concrete work at Broadway, so long as the weather will permit.

The city administration is not in favor of this move and will not permit any concreting to be done on the portion of the work to be paid for by the city and neither will it permit traffic to be interfered with during the winter.

The board members have no objection, however, to finishing up the retaining walls at Broadway, but will insist that the west side of the street, under the tracks, must not be disturbed. The old passenger wagon track has been put down on the east side to insure service during the bad weather.

As the Wabash company has shown a willingness to push its work the city administration is inclined to grant any favors that it can, but at both Fairfield avenue and Broadway the streets will be left open for the winter.

Sending Out the Notices.

Building Inspector Philip Wyss began this afternoon the work of sending out notices to merchants to remove signs that do not conform to the ordinance recently passed by the city council. A reasonable time will be granted to sign owners in which to do the work.

Board of Works Routine.

The board of works took under advisement at its meeting last night the application of Contractor Henry Hilgeman for a permit to open Spy Run avenue to reach the Lawton park sewer for the new school building. Residents of Spy Run are opposed to tearing up the pavement.

John Bushmann and Attorney Joseph Haley acted as spokesmen for a delegation of north side citizens, who want the plans and figures on straightening St. Mary's river. They were assured that the engineer would supply them as soon as possible.

Assessment rolls for paving Maumee avenue were confirmed and primary assessment rolls adopted for Wildwood avenue, from Fairfield to Hoagland and from Hoagland to Webster, and for cement sidewalks on the east side of Cass street, First to Sixth.

A remonstrance was filed against the opening of the alley east of Greenwood avenue.

Residents of Forest Park addition petitioned for arc lights on California avenue at State street, Vermont avenue and Forest avenue.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Plans for President Taft's trip to Utica to attend the funeral of Vice President Sherman were changed today so that the president and probably the entire congressional committee will reach Mr. Sherman's home city on the same train at 1:30 Saturday afternoon.

According to plans prepared by white house officials today the president will leave Washington late this afternoon and spend tonight at the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft, in New York. SOCIETY

Although strictly informal, the tea given this afternoon by Mrs. W. M. McKinnis and Miss McKinnis in honor of Mrs. Clayton Giles, of Wilmington, N. C., was charming in its elegance of appointment. Chrysanthemums and other garden flowers and autumn foliage formed an effective decoration and tea and other refreshments made the gathering of old friends an especially enjoyable one.

A Halloween entertainment which was only one among many given in honor of Mrs. Ralph Yarnelle during her present visit to this her former home was that for which Mrs. H. B. Master was the hostess last evening. There were about a dozen guests, friends of Mrs. Yarnelle, and appointments were both beautiful and appropriate.

Mrs. Joseph Ganser, who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Al Riegel, has returned to Coruna.

Mrs. M. W. Kemp, of 1214 Taylor street, has returned from a visit with friends in Dayton, O.

Miss Elizabeth Porter, of West Wayne street, has gone to Bryn Mawr, Pa., to visit college friends.

Miss Linda Kline, of Wapakoneta, O., is visiting Miss Isabel Ehrman, of East Jefferson street.

Miss Sue Barnett has returned from California where she spent a number of weeks visiting her sister, Mrs. W. B. Biegar.

Mrs. Teller, wife of Judge D. L. Teller, of Waukegan, Wis., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Seely, 130 Woodland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McPherson, of Orillia, Ontario, Canada, are guests of Mrs. M. V. Tucker. Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Tucker are sisters.

Mrs. P. D. Snyder has returned from an extended trip to Portland, Ore., and was accompanied by her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Russell Hawkins and Miss Margaret.

The Eta Alpha girls entertained a number of friends last evening at a progressive dinner. Miss Irma Compart, Miss Ethel Lawrents, Miss Gladys Allen and Miss May Centlivre were the hostesses. At Miss Centlivre's home the company remained to enjoy Halloween stunts.

Mrs. Maurice Dukes played in Marion with the orchestra of that city at a big concert this week. Mr. Dukes returned yesterday from an automobile trip to Syracuse, N. Y., and other eastern points.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller, of Bell avenue, entertained a merry company of friends last evening at a masquerade and Halloween party. A delicious lunch was by no means the least attractive feature of the evening. Among the guests were Misses Gladys Thorpe, Lola Griffith, Stella Angelina, Olive Griffith, Hazel Diefenderfer, Lucile, Lela and Wilma Beard and the Misses Miller.

Miss Maude Jeffries delightfully entertained a party of friends at a Halloween party last night at her home, 273 Baker street. The evening was spent playing various games and telling ghost stories. Prizes were given for the best play at the games, and Miss Gladys Crabbs and Clarence Kruse won them. The guests enjoyed luncheon before departing. Those present were: Gladys Crabbs, Genevieve Carroll, Flossie Hoffman and Clarence Kruse, Albert Kruse and Elmer Urbine.

A pretty birthday party was given yesterday as a surprise to Mrs. Charles Krider at her home in Walling street. A number of Union Label League members and other friends gathered in masquerade costumes and went to the Krider home where they proceeded to play games and contests before they unmasked. A delicious lunch had been provided and it was served in a novel and original manner. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brownberger, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Winters, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hordkorn, Mr. and Mrs. F. DeFrai, Mrs. Charles Henderson, Mrs. Janet, Mrs. J. E. Miller, Mrs. C. Netro, Mrs. McClellan, Mrs. W. Ellison, Mrs. Salzgaber and son, and Mrs. Florence Lakey. A club of young women gave a progressive supper and enjoyed various Halloween games last night in honor of Miss Linda Kline, of Wapakoneta, O., and Miss Clara Mesberger, of Bluffton. Stops were made at the home of each member of the club and there were pretty decorations and favors appropriate in color and make at each home. Pumpkin lanterns and other suggestions in yellow and black were seen at each home. Delicious refreshments were served and at the home of Miss Marie Berghoff the company played games. Members of the club are Misses Isabel Ehrman, Marie and Lizzie Berghoff, Loretta Ankenbruck, Beatrice and Louise Henry, Helen Baker, Marie Laabe.

Little Marcell Link was five years old on Wednesday and her mother, Mrs. J. C. Link, of California avenue, invited a number of small playmates to come to a birthday party. Everyone was on hand promptly and they all had a fine time. There were games and music, Halloween decorations, a birthday cake with pink candles on it that was just one of a number of good things for supper, and other pretty things that children like. The guests at this happy party were Marian Miller, Paul Peters, Bert Wallace, Laura and Robert Kolb, Lorna Frauenthoner, Ruth Anderson, Edward Jamison, Bernice Brandon, Esther Roux, Earl Kelsey, Linus and Wayne Link.

Another pretty party of a pre-nuptial character in honor of Miss Clara Gross, was that given last evening by Mrs. George E. Tibbits, of East Pontiac street. The decorations and arrangements were of a Halloween character. Miss Gross received a shower of useful and beautiful gifts during the evening. Music and games were the special enjoyment. There were present Misses Ethna Nipper, Bessie Orr, Ethel Harper, Eulalie Clark, Ollie Swinehart, Lulu Michaels, Grace Cochran, Myrtle and Bertha Imbody, Flo Gilmore, Augusta Winkler, Cora and Grace Hammond, Norma Weeks, Nellie Hunter, Edna Kunkle, Edith and Roxie Colby, Rachel Emmons, Anna Campbell, Mrs. George Meyers, Mrs. C. Burton and Mrs. L. E. Bowser.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dick, of Hoagland avenue, entertained the members of the Garden Bridge club and their husbands at a Halloween party last evening. The guests went in masquerade costumes and that contributed much to the fun before the company settled down to a game of bridge. Mr. and Mrs. Dick had their home beautifully as well as fittingly decorated with oak leaves, flowers and pumpkin lanterns. Several ghostly figures walked through the rooms frequently enough to keep the fact of its being the last night in October always in mind. A delicious supper was served after the game. Covers were laid for twenty-four.

Miss Holman and the class of 1912 of the Lutheran hospital training school were entertained at a Halloween party on Thursday evening by Mrs. A. L. Blauvelt, of 818 Clay street. The preparations included a gypsy tent with a gypsy to tell fortunes, oak branches, pumpkin lights and the class colors of blue and white shown in various ways. Music, games and refreshments entertained the guests. Mrs. Elmer Ball and Miss Emma Bradtner assisted the hostess in serving the supper. Children's Story Hours Begin.
The story hours for younger children at the public library will begin next Saturday morning, Nov. 2, at 10 o'clock, and will continue regularly at this time throughout the winter. Children of the first four grades in school are invited.

"Story telling to instruct and amuse is an ancient art, but it is only during the last ten years that libraries have utilized it as a means of drawing children to better reading. A carefully prepared, well told story enriches a child's imagination, stocks his mind with poetic imagery and literary allusions, develops his powers of concentration, helps in the unfolding of his ideas of right and wrong and develops his sympathetic feelings."

AT THE MAJESTIC

"The Price" Next Week.

At the Majestic theater on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Clarence Bennett and company will present "The Price" for an engagement of three nights and an election day matinee.

"The Price" was written by George Broadhurst, the author of "Bought and Paid For," "Man of the Hour" and other successful plays.

"The Price" tells a story of a woman's fight for love and happiness. Through circumstances she is thrown into companionship with a man she comes to think she loves. Then appears the man she really does love and wants to marry. She hesitates to break with her first lover, but finally is forced to tell him of her decision. The news kills him. He was married and his wife had been suspicious of him and the girl, so when the latter is wedded, the widow vows vengeance. Before she accomplishes her ends she displays a most unusual vindictiveness, as well as ingenuity.

In working out the story Mr. Broadhurst has given Edna Marshall a part that calls for every atom of that emotional talent which she possesses to a greater degree than any other player today.

Supporting Miss Marshall is a company selected solely with the idea of giving a perfect performance of the play. In the cast besides Miss Marshall there are Geo. V. Dill, Catherine Evans, Glen Porter, Clarence Bennett, Roy Van Fossen and others. Each of the scenes is faithfully staged, so that the illusion of the place and time is not lost.

ESCALLOPED SALMON—Make a sauce of two tablespoons of butter, two of flour, one cup of sweet milk, pepper and salt. Put in a baking dish a layer of bread crumbs on the bottom, then a layer of salmon freed from skin and bones, pour on a part of the sauce, add another layer of fish, cover with sauce and cover the top with bread crumbs mixed with grated cheese. Bake one-half hour.

SALPICON OF SALMON—Cover rounds of buttered toast with a layer of minced mushrooms. Season highly with salt and paprika and heap upon each toast circle one tablespoonful of flaked salmon. Place in a shallow baking pan and pour over all a rich Hollandaise sauce and bake in a moderate oven until heated through. Serve with crisp celery hearts.

HOT DISCUT—Three cups of flour, 2 teaspoons of baking powder (heaping), 1 level teaspoon salt, 1 large tablespoonful lard, 1/2 cups of milk. Stir all the dry ingredients together, rub in the lard, work to a soft dough with a knife, handling as little as possible, roll out and cut. Bake about 10 or 20 minutes in a hot oven.

Business Session of Executive Board of Federated Clubs.

COUNCIL NEXT MAY

At a meeting of the executive board of the Indiana Federation of Clubs held in Indianapolis on Wednesday, a number of Fort Wayne women were appointed either as chairmen or committees or as members of committees of departments of work. Mrs. Elizabeth J. Dawson, who had served a part of the year as chairman of the conservation department, was reappointed. Mrs. E. M. Wilson was made chairman of the civics department and Mrs. L. N. Taylor of the household economics and sanitation department. Miss Katherine Hamilton was appointed a member of the art committee, Mrs. Ferd Urbahn of the music committee, Dr. Jessie C. and Mrs. Fred McCulloch of the library extension committee.

Mrs. Harriet Henton, of Peru, was made chairman of the new press bureau and each of her committee will be a representative of a district of the state. That will make Mrs. MacQueen in charge of press work of the Twelfth district.

The members of the executive board of the Indiana Federation of Clubs, which included the three new trustees, Mrs. Eva Robcock, of Wabash; Mrs. Virginia C. Meredith, of Cambridge City; Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke, of Indianapolis, met in all day session at the Claypool hotel and were guests of the Commercial club at lunch. The meeting was called by Mrs. Felix T. McWhirter, president of the federation, and the officers included Mrs. Clark Fairbank, of this city, who was elected corresponding secretary at the convention held here last week.

Appoint First Vice President.
The first business under consideration was the appointment of a first vice president to succeed Mrs. Lewis J. Cox, of Terre Haute, who resigned, much to the regret of everyone. In her place Mrs. Cragle Gunn Mitchell, of Bedford, was appointed and she will serve. An invitation for the place of the next convention to be held was read and will probably be accepted. Owing to the fact that Mrs. McWhirter considered it necessary to hold further consultation with women of the district from which the invitation came, the officers were requested to keep the name of the city a secret until further official notice.

Council at Winona Lake.
A meeting of the council of the federation, which consists of the executive board, district chairmen and presidents of all clubs federated with the state organization will meet next May at Winona Lake. The officers in session on Wednesday, aside from the trustees named, included Mrs. McWhirter, Mrs. G. C. Markle, of Winchester; Mrs. S. E. Perkins, Indianapolis; Mrs. Leon Stern, Terre Haute; Miss Vina Lawson, Columbus; Mrs. Richard Elbel, South Bend.

NATURE'S ESSENCE...Extracted From Forest Plants.

Nature's laws are perfect, but disease follows if these laws are not obeyed. Go straight to nature for the cure, to the forest; there are mysteries here that we can learn from you. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It took Dr. Pierce, with the assistance of two learned chemists, eight years of hard work experimenting to make this pure glyceric extract and alternative of the greatest efficiency and without the use of a particle of alcohol.

Just the sort of remedy you need to make rich, red blood, and cure that lassitude and feeling of nerve exhaustion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery bears the stamp of PUNSC APPROVAL and has sold more largely in the past forty years than any other blood purifier and stomach tonic.

"Some time ago I got out of health—my stomach seemed to be the seat of the trouble," writes Mrs. E. M. WALLACE, of Billerica, Mass. "I commenced to doctor with all the doctors I could find as well as with other specialties on stomach and digestive organs. None seemed to do any good—in fact, most of the medicines did me harm. Finally, I wrote to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., who replied, stating that I had four medical Discoveries and 'Pleasant Pills'." "The 'Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pills' have put me on my feet again," seemed to be just what I needed. I could not have recovered without them."

RHEUMATISM

URIC ACID CAUSES IT—S.S.S. CURES IT

Every variety of Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood; the different forms of the disease depending on whether this uric acid settles in the nerves, muscles or joints. In Sciatica it is the nerves which are attacked, the muscular form shows the muscles to be the seat of trouble, while manifestations of articular Rheumatism are evidence that the joints are being diseased. To cure Rheumatism the uric acid must be removed from the blood; the circulation must be made pure. This cannot be accomplished with external applications; such treatment may furnish temporary relief from the pain, but it does not reach the producing cause. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism of every variety and form because it purifies the blood. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes the acids and dissolves the irritating deposits which are pressing on the sensitive nerves and tissues, and producing pain. Whether your case of Rheumatism be acute or chronic S. S. S. is the medicine you need; it will cure you and at the same time build up the entire system by its fine vegetable tonic effects. him, it sure is to hop from the frying-pan into the fire if he ever roams this way. The fire's name is Johan Johnson, erstwhile occupant of an extra-secure cell in the city bastille.

Here are a few—just a few—of the performances of Mr. Johnson since he made the active acquaintance of the police department recently:

- Overturned a large and cumbersome safe.
- Tore one door from its hinges.
- Bit heavy gold plated watch chain in two.
- Broke stout billiard table while juggling it.
- Cast heavy stove through side of local edifice.

Licked, collectively and individually, approximately sixteen lumber jacks and bartenders.

Licked three policemen and badly damaged six others.

The telephone bell at police headquarters tinkled.

"For heaven's sake send the police department up here. There's a man juggling one of my billiard tables and it is nearly a wreck now," came wailingly over the wire.

"Glen, I want volunteers—single men," spoke the stern-faced captain in a grim voice. "The enemy I recognize as our friend Johan."

Fourth stepped an even half-dozen men, their step unflinching and the light of battle in their eyes. Each and every one had heard the dread name of Johan, but they were a game bunch of cops.

Johan opened hostilities by hurling the remains of the billiard table at the enemy. This he followed with a large sheet-iron stove which, being ducked by the squad, tore out the front of the place, and the bluecoats, single all, and with the aforesaid light of battle undimmed, closed in. There was some class to that fight. The "joint" was wrecked. The police department fanned Johan about the fifteenth round and, contrary to the rules, leaped upon him as one man. Considerable difficulty was experienced in getting the cuffs on Johan because of the rapid rotating of both arms and legs and because it was some time before a pair of cuffs large enough to fit were produced. In the partment up here. There's a man juggling one of my billiard tables and it is nearly a wreck now," came wailingly over the wire.

Governor Will Move on Legal Evidence of Gambling at French Lick.

HOME FROM THE WEST

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—"If those who criticize will furnish me with the name legal statement of facts as we had at Porter, I will send troops or employ any other possible method in stopping gambling, if it exists, at French Lick," said Governor Marshall last night in answer to criticisms which have been raised because he stopped race track gambling in Porter county and failed to proceed against gambling in Orange county.

returned in splendid health. James H. Fry, state inspector, who accompanied the governor as manager of the trip also returned.

Governor Marshall was to have spoken in Chicago last night, but he canceled the engagement upon hearing of Vice President Sherman's death. He had not known of the plans for the meeting in Indianapolis tomorrow night until he reached home, but he probably will attend the final rally, because it will be after the hour of Mr. Sherman's funeral.

Governor Marshall is not given to prophecy, but he disclosed that he is confident of a democratic victory next Tuesday.

"The father of Governor Johnson sat on the platform from which I spoke while in California, and he is going to vote the democratic ticket," remarked the governor, "not because he believes in our principles, but because the progressive party has made it impossible in California for Taft Republicans to vote for Taft. The Republicans who are barred from voting their sentiments because of a law which Governor Johnson's legislature passed last December, when I believe he knew Col. Roosevelt was planning to become a candidate, are going to vote the democratic ticket, and I believe this will place the state in the democratic column. The state would have gone for Roosevelt if the Taft Republicans had not been shut out as they have been. In Idaho the Taft men have shut out the progressives, and in that state the democrats will again profit by such action."

Since he had not had an opportunity of discussing the Porter county situation with his secretary, Mark Thistlethwaite, and Attorney General Honan, Governor Marshall declined to say what action he will take if the Mineral Springs Jockey club resumes racing tomorrow. It is said, however, that state officials question whether the race track promoters will carry out their threat to attempt racing again this fall.

Must Have Evidence. "A lot of people who are not lawyers think that some things can be done that are not done," said Governor Marshall. "We were able to stop gambling at the Porter county race track where we could place the responsibility on a corporation. If it were possible to prove that a corporation at French Lick has anything to do with gambling we could proceed as we did in Porter county."

"I have been governor almost four years and not a single letter complaining of gambling at French Lick has come to me, while I have been fairly showered with complaints from Porter county."

The American flag on the state house was placed at half mast yesterday on orders of the governor, and it will remain so until after Mr. Sherman's funeral.

SUICIDE KNOWN HERE.

Woman Who Took Morphine Was Mrs. Edna Luckey.

A receipt found last night in the room of the woman who committed suicide at 311 Douglas avenue, led to her identification as Mrs. Edna Luckey. She gave the name of Mrs. Duboise at the rooming house. The woman came to Fort Wayne about three years ago and during the summer she was employed at the Union house, on West Main street. The body was identified by A. O. Bly, proprietor of the hotel, and his daughter.

For a time the woman was employed as a domestic at the Kimmel home in Pleasant township. From there she went to the Union house, and three days ago was employed by the Corrugated Paper company. The remains are being held at the Scheuman morgue until relatives are located.

NEW YORK GIVES
WILSON OVATION

Throng at Madison Square
Garden Cheers Nominee
Over an Hour.

VOTING IS NOT ALL

New York, Nov. 1.—Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, speaking last night before an audience that filled every corner of Madison Square Garden, received the greatest ovation of his campaign for the presidency. Entering the hall at 9:11 o'clock after speaking before an enthusiastic audience in the Bronx, the democratic candidate stood for an hour and three minutes at the railing of the speaker's platform, waiting for the demonstration to end.

"No man could fail to be moved by a demonstration such as we have witnessed tonight," he said with every evidence of deep feeling as he finally made himself heard, "yet I am the more thrilled because I realize it is a demonstration for a cause, and not for a man."

Starting with the first shouts from the doorway when Gov. Wilson arrived by automobile from the Bronx meeting, the Madison Square Garden outburst defied his utmost effort to quell it. The governor's motion for quiet brought only renewed cheers. Chants of "We want Wilson" shook the hall and twice when the cheering had slightly subsided, it was started with renewed vigor by young women who forced their way to the front of the speaker's stand and inspired the crowd to fresh efforts.

Regular and Irregular.

Governor Wilson spoke extemporaneously, but adhered closely in his Madison Square Garden speech to the one he had made earlier at the Bronx meeting. He had spoken but a few minutes and was declaring that the progressive party "wherever it could capture the regular republican organization was regular and wherever it could not was irregular" when a man in the middle aisle of the hall, directly beneath the speaker's stand shouted: "Governor, talk about the Baltimore platform."

Cries of "put him out" came from all parts of the hall, and three policemen grabbed the disturber and rushed him to a doorway. Governor Wilson leaned over the rail and called to the police: "Don't put anybody out," but the man was ejected.

"It is inconvenient to have more than one man speak at a time but this is a free country," added Governor Wilson, amidst cheers from the crowd.

Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters, in a box near the speaker's platform, were apparently greatly moved by the demonstration for the governor and exchanged smiles with him as he tried to obtain order.

Others First Heard.

Congressman Oscar W. Underwood, who had been Governor Wilson's opponent for the democratic nomination, and Congressman William Sulzer, candidate for governor of New York, preceded Governor Wilson at Madison Square Garden.

"Government is an enterprise of mankind, not of parties," said Gov. Wilson. "As day approaches I have a greater and greater feeling of satisfaction, because I know that the American people are about to make one of the most vital choices of their lives. From one ocean to another, men are becoming aware that in less than a week the common people of America will come into their own."

"All we have to do is to realize that the common enterprises of life are the enterprises of politics; that a man is not voting an abstract political creed, but is voting a program of justice and of right when he votes at the polls. Now, if you want that program what are you going to do next Tuesday?"

Voting is Not All.

"Vote for Wilson," interrupted a voice and there was great applause.

"I appreciate the compliment," continued the speaker, "but I want to say this: That unless you people put yourselves into Wilson you won't be worth anything. The one thing that will set reform forward in this country, my friends, is a united government and a united government does not consist of a president and of something that in my time the people have not yet captured—a senate. And it consists of something more. If you have a democratic government in Washington and do not have a democratic government in the state you have no conducting medium by which to signal to Washington."

"I, myself, do not doubt the verdict, but I want to say to you that if the verdict shall be that the people of the United States have voted upon their individual convictions as free men, I, for my part, am ready to accept the verdict whether it is for or against me; for unless you believe in the things I believe in, and purpose the things that I purpose, it will be of no avail if you elevate me to the isolated and lonely office."

"I propose, therefore, that men now forget their individual likes and dislikes, their individual sympathies and antipathies, and join together in a solemn act of a sovereign people and determine what the government of the United States shall be."

AT A STANDSTILL.

The Slat—So your weight is now stationary? Since when have you stopped gaining?
The Stout One—Since last week, when I reached the limit of the scales.

ONLY A FEW PRANKS.
Hallock's Was Not Celebrated in the Usual Manner.

The police department of the city is rejoicing over the quiet passing of Hallock's as there were no serious pranks perpetrated on the property owners last night. The heavy downpour of rain early in the evening frightened most of the would-be plunderers and kept them indoors. They did not relish the idea of running through muddy alleys or braving the severe weather for the pleasure of doing plunder. Most of the youngsters stayed at home and did not even venture into the streets, and probably went to bed early, and contented themselves with recounting the narrow escapes of former years from the late citizen, or the watchful patrolman. The police received only a few calls and these were from places where boys ran tick-tacks to the windows or deluging residences with corn. Ten officers on bicycles dispersed the gangs of loiterers on the streets and excellent order was preserved throughout the city.

A market stand on the market place was wrecked by some youthful plunderers. The stand had been broken, however, last summer when a horse backed a wagon against it.

WABASH SHOPMAN BADLY INJURED

Locomotive Tire Falls on J. W. Hindman, Breaking Leg in Two Places.

Jacob J. Trautman, inspector of small motors, meters and lamps at the Fort Wayne Electric works, and one of the most steady and reliable employees at that shop, resigned his position last evening. This morning he became a partner with his father, John Trautman, in conducting the Sportsman's Emporium at 221 East Main street. Jacob Trautman took employment in a minor capacity with the Fort Wayne Electric works in 1890 and by attention to business and with an aptitude for that class of work soon advanced to the position he now relinquishes. No one has been appointed to the position Mr. Trautman has just vacated and it is understood that the duties of the office will be divided among three or four men, who will look after them in connection with other work.

HEAVY FREIGHT BUSINESS.

Nickel Plate Has All Its Power and Crews at Work.

In former years the maximum movement of freight over the Nickel Plate was during the winter months—December, January and February—and if that rule prevails the coming winter, the heaviest business in the history of the road will be the result. This week the tonnage of freight handled over the Western division is as great as was the tonnage carried during the best week of last winter. If the proportion of increase of the winter months over those of the summer and fall months which characterized the business of former years is made the coming season it will beat any previous year by 20 to 25 percent. This means that the company will have to increase its number of train and engine crews to a point beyond all precedent. Already there has been some increase, but the men advanced so far include some who were put back during the summer on account of the falling off of freight and the increased load placed upon the engines. Business was better during the entire summer, however, than any previous summer and there were fewer men furloughed or put back in rank than in former seasons. F. E. Tew and J. D. Bright, who were among the last to be promoted to engineers last winter and who were put back to firing on passenger trains, are again at the throttle of freight engines and their places in the passenger engine cabs have been taken by Firemen B. Garver and A. J. Pappert, who had been firing freight engines.

COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE.

Will Look Into Car Shortage and Coal Famine.

The announcement that unless the railway companies are able to supply more cars for handling the coal from the Hocking mines than are now in use, the territory supplied with fuel from those mines will suffer a coal famine, has led the Ohio Public Service commission to make an investigation into the alleged shortage of cars and the several advances in the price of coal at the Hocking and other mines in Ohio. General superintendents and car service men of eleven coal carrying roads have been summoned to appear before the commission in Columbus on November 15 to testify at a hearing of charges against their lines. The commission will endeavor to make an arrangement by which those roads having an excess of cars will loan them to the roads on which there is a shortage and in this way prevent any serious congestion. The mine operators say they are only working to 50 per cent of their capacity on account of the roads not giving them cars sufficient to remove the fuel. The shortage, it is said, is responsible for the rise in price of coal at the mines from $1.65 to $2.50 per ton. Much of the coal consumed in Fort Wayne comes from the Hocking mines.

LEG BROKEN IN TWO PLACES.

J. W. Hindman Caught Under Falling Locomotive Tire.

While assisting some shopmates in rolling a fifty-six inch locomotive tire at the Wabash shops at 9 o'clock this morning, J. W. Hindman was caught under the heavy piece when the men lost control of it and allowed it to fall. When he went down, Hindman's left leg was caught as it was bent at the knee and the bones were broken midway between the hip and the knee and between the knee and the ankle and in addition the knee was wrenched badly. The Barnett ambulance was summoned to the shop and Hindman was taken to the St. Joseph hospital, where the fractured bones were set and the other injuries attended to by Dr. C. F. Kaadt, the Wabash surgeon. Hindman is married and the family reside at 1025 West Jefferson street. He has been employed as a machinist's helper in the Wabash shops about three years.

AMERICAN ROADS ARE BEST.

German Expert Makes Inspection of Them.

Max W. A. Grohnert, of Berlin, a representative of the German government, will sail for the Fatherland tomorrow, imbued with the idea that the railways of the United States are superior to those of any other country on the globe. Herr Grohnert has just completed an inspection trip over lines between the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans. He says that American roads are among the best in the world and he was particularly impressed with the immense motive power used by the roads in this country and also with the good condition of the rolling stock. He was emphatic in his praise of the sleeping car and other accommodations for travelers, but expressed surprise that so many American cities are without adequate union stations.

$20,000,000 FOR CARS.

Pennsylvania Places Contract to That Amount.

The Pennsylvania has just placed orders for 5,000 freight cars as additional to the equipment of the lines, and this brings the total number of cars ordered so far this year up to 10,000. The latest order was for 4,000 standard box cars and 1,000 automobile cars, divided between the Pressed Steel Car company and the shops of the Pennsylvania at Altoona.

CAN'T HANDLE THE BUSINESS.

And the Erie Sends Much of It Over the B. & O.

The Chicago and Erie road, a single track line, finds itself in an embarrassing position in the way of business. So much freight originating in the east is coming to that line that it is impossible to handle all of it and every day for the past week the Erie has turned from two to four through trains over to the B. & O. at Mansfield, to be taken to Chicago. The construction of a second track on the Erie is also contributing to the difficulties in handling the business of the line, for the single main line is more or less blocked by the construction trains. The Erie will be in better shape a year later to handle business than it is today.

SUCCEEDS CHARLEY COMPARET.

H. F. Danielson Becomes Pennsylvania Patrolman.

H. F. Danielson has succeeded Charles W. Comparet as a patrolman in the Pennsylvania police department. Mr. Comparet having, as previously announced, become a switchman in the company's yards. Mr. Danielson is from Hamlet, where he was employed for some time in the maintenance of way department of the Pennsylvania. He will work at the east yards for awhile.

TRAINS COVERED WITH SNOW.

The first real reminder of the approach of the winter season came to those about the Pennsylvania and the G. R. & I. tracks this morning in the form of snow covered cars from the west and north. A snow storm prevailed at Valparaiso and Plymouth for three hours last night and freight trains that passed through the storm covered territory carried from a half to an inch of snow on the cars.

ALBERT TRAUTMAN PROMOTED.

Albert Trautman, card clerk at the foundry office of the Bass Foundry and Machine works, has been advanced to yard clerk, succeeding Frank Zscheffski, promoted several days ago, as mentioned by the Sentinel. Edward Dickmeyer, who was formerly employed in the Fruit House, has succeeded Mr. Trautman as card clerk at the foundry.

MR. PARKS ON VACATION.

O. J. Parks, chief car inspector of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, entered upon his annual vacation yesterday. A portion of the time will be spent with friends in Terre Haute, where Mr. Parks resided when he was connected with the Vandalla system. Mr. and Mrs. Parks left for that city yesterday.

STENOGRAPHER TRANSFERRED.

R. James Gardner, a stenographer, has been transferred from the Pennsylvania yardmaster's office to the trainmaster's office to take the place of J. B. Brown, who was promoted to a position in the claim agents' office, as mentioned by the Sentinel yesterday. The change is in line of promotion for Mr. Gardner.

FOOT BADLY CUT ON GLASS.

While walking in the Nickel Plate yards Wednesday, Engineer F. Fagan stepped upon the ragged edge of a broken lantern globe and some of the pointed pieces of glass pierced his shoe and cut his foot badly. The wound is painful and will keep Engineer Fagan from work for several days.

HAD A FOOT INJURED.

Machinist Harvey Stahl received injuries at the Pennsylvania shops yesterday afternoon that have put him out of commission several days. A siderrail fell upon his right foot, bruising the instep badly. No bones were broken, however.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Effective today winter tourist rates to points in the southwest are on and will continue until spring.

John Otis, inspector for the Erie, inspected a lot of car casting and wheels at the Bass foundry today.

Milton Misner, apprentice in the Pennsylvania machine shop, will go to Crete tomorrow to visit friends.

C. H. Holmes, a machinist, has been transferred from the erecting to the machine shop of the Pennsylvania.

Machinist J. E. Donnelly, who had been sick, reported for work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

Nickel Plate Engineers C. M. Crosby and J. Mauer have been unable to work for a few days on account of sickness.

Business has been keeping Engineer Joseph Egolf, of the Nickel Plate, from his work on the road for a few days.

A. B. Johnson resigned as crane operator in the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning. He will seek other work.

B. F. Saver has returned from Cambridge, Ohio, where he was called several days ago on business for the company.

After a week's absence on account of sickness, B. W. Jansen resumed work in the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning.

Clem App, Jr., clerk at the Bass offices, will return to that duty Monday. He has been at Lake James for the past week.

C. C. Adams, P. VanArsdale and D. C. Crimmons, Pennsylvania yard engineers, are taking a lay off to attend to some private business.

Gang Foreman William Fary resumed work in the Pennsylvania round house this morning, after a visit with relatives and friends in Lebanon, Pa.

E. A. Evans, Nickel Plate engineer, who takes an unusual interest in political matters this year, has obtained a lay off until after the election.

Engineer E. Jamey, of the Pennsylvania, has obtained a three weeks' lay off and will leave tonight for the wilds of Wisconsin on a bear and deer hunt. On a similar expedition last year Engineer Jamey got plenty of game.

R. C. McLaughlin, caller of engine crews at the Pennsylvania round house, will go to Plymouth tomorrow to spend Sunday with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Frost, wife of Assistant Yardmaster Harry Frost, of the Wabash, is seriously ill at the family home on DeWald street. As a result of her illness Mr. Frost is not working.

Arthur J. Suthers, of the Pennsylvania shops, and Fireman F. B. Kooks, of the Nickel Plate, will be guests of friends in Chicago over Sunday. They go to that city tomorrow.

R. J. Fisher returned home this morning from a business trip in the interest of the Bass Foundry and Machine works. He says he found great business activity in all the cities he visited.

C. O. Cullen, a machinist's helper, resigned a position at the Pennsylvania shops yesterday. Mrs. Cullen is visiting in Michigan, and a telegram from her stated that her mother was seriously

An Everyday View of the Next Sunday School Lesson

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 3, 1912.

The Sign and the Leaven.
Lesson Text, Mark 8:11-26. Golden Text, John 8:12: Again therefore Jesus spoke unto them, saying, I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in the darkness, but shall have the light of life. We are told (Mark 8:10) that immediately after the feeding of the four thousand Jesus and his disciples entered the boat and came "into the parts of Dalmanutha." The parallel passage in Matthew (15:39) says "into the borders of Magadan." These two places either were the same, or were very close together. Neither is elsewhere mentioned, and the site of neither has been identified. It is usually placed in Galilee, about midway of the western shore of the lake. The prompt appearance of the Pharisees (Mark 8:11) would indicate that it was at least in or near Jewish territory.

Jesus' enemies gave him their usual welcome—"they began to question with him." They demanded a sign. They had made this demand before, and it had been refused. On the present occasion the Sadducees joined them. The fact that these antagonistic parties had united in opposition to Jesus was a sinister proof of the deadliness of their hostility. The Sadducees were materialists; their demand for a sign "from heaven" was only a jeer. The attitude of the Pharisees was somewhat different. Jesus had been giving teaching which varied from their own. Let him authenticate it as divine. He had done remarkable things, it was true, but they had persistently referred them not to be a heavenly but to a satanic power (Matt. 12:24). Now they demanded a demonstration which would have an indubitably heavenly source—such, possibly as the calling of fire or rain from heaven.

Prejudice and Hatred of Pharisees Blind Them to True Heavenly Signs.
Jesus' curt and positive refusal was justified. He "sighed deeply in his spirit" as he gave it (Mark 8:12); and well he might sigh at their lamentable lack of spiritual discernment. The miracles of Jesus conferred benefits—not trifling ones, but those which were of utmost preciousness to the recipients. They exhibited supreme goodness, tenderness, compassion. But in this the Pharisees could see nothing divine. To them these things were not signs "from heaven." To their warped vision correct form seemed more heavenly than beneficence.

Jesus left them and hurried away in the boat with his disciples. He would not enter into conflict with his enemies. His haste in this case seems in its essence almost like a flight, as in truth it was. He was fleeing from turmoil that he might find rest for his own spirit, and opportunity for more intimate converse with the twelve men than he had hitherto held with them.

The next incident is characteristic of the disciples. Their journey was to the north end of the lake. As an introduction to the words of Jesus and their misunderstanding of them, the writer mentions that they had forgotten to provide themselves with bread while they were ashore (Mark 8:14). Their hurried departure had probably caused the omission.

Jesus' Contented With Blindness of Friends as Well as Enemies.

"Take heed," said Jesus, "beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of Herod" (Mark 8:15). At the word "leaven" their thoughts flew at once to their lack of bread (v. 10). What did he mean? Was he rebuking them for their carelessness, or did he forbid the purchase of bread from persons with Pharisaic or Herodian sympathies? They were capable of entertaining this thought even after his recent instruction about the impossibility of defilement by food.

The name of Herod seems here abruptly introduced, but the fact that not a few partisans of the Herodian dynasty were found among the Sadducees will explain the use of it. Jesus perceiving what was in the minds of his companions, rebuked them for their lack of understanding (vs. 17-21). "Can you suppose that at a time like this I am concerned about the lack of bread? Have you so soon forgotten the feeding of the two multitudes? Do you not understand that I am speaking of something other than actual bread?" Then they understood that by "leaven" he meant "teaching" (Matt. 16:12).

"If, taking the words as they stand in Mark (8:15), we compare the leaven of the Pharisees with that of Herod, we shall find another suggestion. The views of the Pharisees were formalism and hypocrisy; the views of Herod were those of a profligate. The latter a clean mind would naturally avoid; but, cautious Jesus, avoid the former as well. Both are evil, both separate from God. Jesus, Seeking Rest for Himself, Is Still Compassionate."

It was the evident purpose of Jesus to seek a retreat in the far north, and Bethsaida (Julias) was not his destination. He seems to have intended to pass by the place without attracting attention—a difficult thing to do, since it was in this neighborhood that he had fed the five thousand. He did not entirely escape recognition. A blind man was brought to him for healing (Mark 8:22). Jesus forestalled the collecting of a crowd by leading the man from the town before curing him. This miracle is the only one recorded where the healing was not apparently instantaneous, or where a second putting forth of power was required. If we know all the circumstances and were familiar with the mental state of this man we might know the reason for this. The method resembles in some respects that used in the cure of the deaf-mute studied in last week's lesson. The application of saliva to his eyes and the partial restoration of vision, gave to his faith the stimulus which made possible the perfect cure. Verse 26 is significant of Jesus' determination to escape the multitudes. "And he sent him away to his home, saying, Do not even enter into the village." And he was enabled to pursue his journey to the northward, free at last from following throngs.

Some practical applications:
Let us not be demanding signs of God, and insisting that we shall choose the ways in which he shall reveal himself to us. Once he let Gideon choose a sign (Judges 6:36-40), and once he let Hezekiah choose one (II Kings 20:8-11), but he has not bound himself to grant that privilege to everyone. Let us seek rather to understand the signs he gives than to demand new ones. Elijah on Horeb found God not in the wind, the earthquake or the fire, but in the still small voice (I Kings 19:11-12). So we may always find him, though our eyes never behold physical wonders. Leaven is usually, though not always, used as a type of evil. But character can be leavened with good as well as evil. It is not leaven we are to avoid, but bad leaven.

JUST MIX MENTHO-LAXENE

With Granulated Sugar and Water and You Will Have a Large Pint Bottle of the Finest Acting Cold and Cough Remedy and Cough Syrup You've Ever Tried.

It's Cheaper Than Buying Ready-Made Remedies, Besides It's Pure and Guaranteed Effective Always.

Usually a family spends two to five dollars every winter for cough, cold and catarrh remedies, buying 25c worth at a time.

For instance, a two-ounce bottle, at 50c, will contain about four-fifths "syrup" and one-fifth "medicine." That's paying too much for ordinary syrup; you can make a half gallon of syrup for 25c.

The syrup, extra bottles, labels, corks, cartons, etc., make this method of buying very expensive by the end of the year.

A little thought and wisdom will save any family several dollars and give them purer and better medicine, too.

Make a simple syrup with a pint of granulated sugar and a half pint of boiling water; then buy the pure concentrated essence Mentho-Laxene at your drug store (1-2 oz. bottle) and empty it into a pint bottle or jar and then fill it up with the syrup.

Now you have a season's supply of the purest, best and most promptly effective cold and catarrh cure and cough medicine that it is possible to obtain. It keeps indefinitely and cures young and old of colds, catarrh, coughs, bronchitis, hoarseness, shortness of breath and all lung and bronchial trouble. It is the only remedy that cures coughs and drives catarrhal matter out of the system; by its tonic-laxative action. It improves the appetite, reduces fever and strengthens the system, thus avoiding chronic ailments and consumption.

Directions with each bottle of Essence Mentho-Laxene tell how to make and how to take. The manufacturers also guarantee to refund money to any one not pleased by its thorough effectiveness.—Adv.

Offers to Build Library and Administration Building at Trinity.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 1.—The trustees of Trinity college today voted to raise a fund of $1,000,000 for the purpose of increasing the endowment fund of the college, and to build a library and administration building, a new dormitory and a new scientific building. After the resolution had been adopted J. Pierpont Morgan, one of the trustees, offered to pay the expenses of building the library and administration building, to be called "Williams Hall," in memory of the late Right Rev. John Williams, bishop of the Episcopal church of Connecticut. Mr. Morgan's gift was received with enthusiasm and a building committee was appointed at once.

TO REPRESENT CHINESE HERE

Celestials in America to Have Spokesman in Chinese Congress.

FONG UKIAH THE MAN

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 1.—Eighty thousand Chinese in America have voted to send Fong Ukiah back to the national assembly in China as a delegate from this country. He leaves San Francisco November 2 for the Flowery Kingdom, where he will take part in the organization of the new Chinese parliament December 10. Fong Ukiah is presiding officer of the Six Companies society in San Francisco, which is the government body of American Chinese; consequently he is the highest Chinese official in the United States. He is also president of the Ning Young Benevolent association, one of the largest of the Six Companies, representing the district in China from which most of the yellow-skinned residents come.

Fong Ukiah was elected by the eighty directors of the Six Companies, each representing 1,000 American Chinese. The Young China association, the Chinese Republic association, the republican party of China and the presidents and secretaries of each of the companies forming the Six Companies society also voted, as well as the Chinese Christians. Fong received 87 out of a total of 113 votes.

Fong was born in Sacramento, Cal., in 1871. His father was a pioneer Chinese immigrant, coming to San Francisco on the second boat from China in 1849. His mother came over in 1851.

There will be six representatives or congressmen from foreign colonies or Chinese. Twenty-three provinces of China have elected delegates and these will also nominate congressmen, the latter, in turn, electing a new president. It is believed that Yuan Shi Kai is good for another term.

Here is a woman who speaks from personal knowledge and long experience, viz., Mrs. P. H. Brogan, of Wilson, Pa., who says, "I know from experience that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is far superior to any other. For croup there is nothing that exceeds it." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

AN EXTINCTION OF GAME IN WEST

Maus Says That All Species

Are Rapidly in the Decline.

CALLS ASSISTANCE

Vancouver, Barracks, Wash., Nov. 1.—That game in the west is fast disappearing and that in a comparatively few years there will be no elk, unless something is done soon to protect them, is the belief of Brigadier General Marion P. Maus, commanding officer of the Department of the Columbia, who has returned from an official inspection of the posts in the Yellowstone National park and other sections of this department. A plea is made to the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks to assist. General Maus said:

"It is observed that game in every section of the northwest is disappearing—buffalo, elk, the great mule, deer, and, in fact, all varieties of both four-legged and feathered game are rapidly diminishing. It is noticeable that in remote districts practically no attention whatever is paid to the violation of the game laws out of season. It is the outsider who is prosecuted and the wardens will even accept part of game killed out of season.

"Does with young are slaughtered and spotted fawns are killed without regard to age. There is more game in some of the old states of the east than in some of our own sparsely settled regions of the northwest.

"The remnant of buffalo is guarded within the park and those, even, are subject to attack under favorable conditions, as a few years ago they were almost exterminated.

"That Yellowstone park is a boon to the adjacent states of Wyoming, Montana and Idaho, to some extent, is well known, as it is the breeding grounds for elk, deer and other game which drifts outside and forms a supply, and this is a great benefit to the states as an attraction to the settler and to the man of means.

"Fish and game form an asset to a country and if not for any other reason, this should not be lost sight of by those who wish to settle up this great region.

"It can be candidly stated that the violations of the game laws are by the people who live in the country and not the man who has money and can afford to travel to seek favorable places in which to shoot during an outing. What he kills may be practically disregarded.

"Wyoming has so safeguarded herself by exorbitant charges for licenses and requirements for guides for each person hunting that only a man of considerable means can afford to shoot in that state, while it can easily be shown that the bars are let down and the laws are violated openly in some sections with little attention paid thereto. But the saddest point of view is that regarding the elk, which formerly could leave the mountain region in winter and work their way down, as the snows increased in depth and grazing became impossible on the mountain, to lower ground, where they passed the winter.

"As this country has become settled and the valleys where elk once grazed have been taken up and enclosed by wire fences, those poor animals come down and starve to death. It is estimated that from five thousand to seven thousand elk die in Jackson's Hole every year from absolute starvation.

"It is believed that the general government has made some attempts to appropriate funds to relieve these animals and that the state has also appropriated an insufficient sum in the same manner.

"What is needed is that an area of sufficient extent should be purchased where the elk may go and live during the severe winters and at the same time be supplied with a reasonable amount of hay.

"Would it not seem that the great Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, whose object, it is said, is to promote the welfare of humanity and whose name is taken from this noble animal, whose teeth are bought by the thousands, would do something toward the aid of these poor, suffering creatures? How easy it would be for them to raise a sum of money to get a place and food to save so many thousands of elk annually. Then the state of Wyoming could be more liberal in the laws, and, while enforcing them more uniformly to all, extend recreation and enjoyment in the field of sport which would add greatly to the happiness of thousands of people."

AERIAL AUTO BLOWS ITSELF ALONG.

Automobile Driven by "Rotary Wing" Aerial Propeller—Printed by Courtesy of Popular Mechanics.

Bertran De Lesseps, a brother of the famous sirman, didn't have the latter's nerve to fly through the clouds. He has his brother's liking for flying. Only he wanted to do his "flying" safely on terra firma, and so he rigged up an aerial auto to do it in.

Except for the general outline, the machine resembles the automobile very little. Instead of gasoline as a motive power, it uses the wind. A "rotary wing" aerial propeller, the shape and curve of which are based upon those of a bird's wing, drive the machine along at a fairly good speed. The propeller is placed a little to one side of the machine's rear so it can be turned towards the wind. The wings are protected at the sides by shield bars.

Not only has it to be blown along roads, up and down hill, but it has been lashed upon a scow which carried a load of 270 tons and it succeeded in propelling the scow at a speed of five miles an hour down stream and two miles an hour up stream. The scow was as manageable as if driven by the ordinary machine propeller, turning, backing and going forward again under perfect control.

Speaking to a reporter, Mr. Alexander said:

"The people in this part of the south do not wear cotton clothes in the summer, because they cannot get them. They would be more comfortable in cotton clothes, and if we people down here would give the matter of meeting the demand for lightweight, stylish clothes some thought and put the money in the proposal a great industry would be the result.

"If we go into this business here in Spartanburg, and get out, just as soon as possible, sample suits that will be as good as the best. I think thousands of orders for delivery next May can be taken in this state. Put men on the road and go after the business and we can have these Spartanburg clothes worn in all parts of the south next summer. I believe we should wear cotton clothes in this part of the country much more generally than we do."

Mr. Alexander said he had talked about the matter with local mill men, and that they had shown much interest. The cloth can be made right here and the suits can be made in this city.

J. W. Copeland, of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Will This Be Your Home?

When the snow falls, and the cold winds sweep 'round your home, will your wife and children inside be warm and comfortable and happy? Will every room in the house be opened up—every bedroom heated?

Or will the greater part of the house be closed up—unused during the entire winter? Will your children have to undress and go to bed in cold, unhealthy rooms? Will your wife be complaining of the frigid atmosphere of the few rooms that are not closed—because the stove does not heat them as it should?

Which Will be Your Home?

You can have every room in your house warm and comfortable on the coldest day of winter—and with less expense than is necessary to heat just a few rooms with an ordinary stove—if you buy a FAVORITE BASE BURNER.

A FAVORITE BASE BURNER will keep every part of your house warm all winter, and do it with from two to three tons of coal. Every square inch of the Favorite radiates heat which constantly circulates throughout the home, keeping every part of it at an even temperature, night and day.

Don't compare the Favorite with any other heating stove. The triple exposed flues and back—the "paper-tight" construction—the beauty of design—put the Favorite in a class by itself.

MUST GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Magistrate Sentences Disorderly Boy to Attend Sixteen Sessions.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 1.—Walter Hayes, 15 years of age, had the alternative of going to jail or to Sunday school when he was arraigned before Magistrate Yeates in the juvenile court. Hayes and a number of companions have recently been annoying passengers of the Rapid Transit company in Germantown. They would jump on the cars and subject riders to all kinds of indignities, and last evening Hayes grabbed the hat of the Rev. George W. Lincoln, rector of the Episcopal church of St. John the Baptist, and made off with it.

When arraigned the magistrate reprimanded him and said: "You are to go to Sunday school regularly for sixteen Sundays. At the end of that time come back here and I'll see if the punishment has done any good." The boy put on a long face, but said he would try to obey.

HAPPINESS IN DIVORCE.

Woman Tells Proctor There Is Joy in Decree.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 1.—W. W. Wright, the divorce proctor, is in disfavor with a woman in Reno, Nev. This woman, in a letter to Wright, says that his office does more harm than good. "I have been married four times," she writes, "and have had the same number of divorces. My last divorce I obtained here just a month ago. Instead of sorrow being written upon my face, I now am the happiest woman in the world. You must be a married man, Mr. Wright, and without a chance to get a divorce. You ought to go some place else and get a decree." Wright is a bachelor, but they do say, when spring-time comes, his condition may be changed.

MUCH HADLEY TALK

New York, Nov. 1.—The selection of a successor to Vice President Sherman on the republican ticket to go before the electoral college in January was the subject of informal discussion yesterday among members of the republican national committee in New York. Governor Herbert S. Hadley, of Missouri, has been advanced as the choice of several members of the committee but no effort has been made as yet to settle upon a candidate.

The fact that Chairman Hilles has delayed the meeting of the national committee until November 12, a week after election, will, it is believed prevent any general agreement upon the vice presidential candidate until after the results of the election are known.

Should President Taft and the republican electors be successful or should the election be thrown into congress by the failure of any candidate to secure a majority, it is believed the pressure would become strong upon the national committee to name Governor Hadley. Senator Borah, Senator Cummins or some other man who has been prominently identified in the progressive movement, but who did not join the new progressive party.

The success of either Wilson or Roosevelt at the election Tuesday would make the naming of a republican vice presidential candidate the next week only a matter of formality. Republican leaders here today declare that no communication had been held with Governor Hadley or any others whose names have been proposed, as to their willingness to accept the post-electoral nomination if offered them.

GOODRICH HAS A CHOICE.

Indianapolis, Nov. 1.—James P. Goodrich, Indiana member of the republican national committee, expressed his choice for a successor to the late James S. Sherman in a message to National Chairman Hilles but he declined to disclose the name. There had been no request from Chairman Hilles that members of the national committee indicate their choice.

EARN A GOOD SALARY.

The well trained stenographer and bookkeeper can always obtain a permanent position at a good salary. Any bright young man or woman, by a few months' study, can become competent to secure a position that pays well from the start. Experience and practice will enable you to earn more money every year.

The stenographic and bookkeeping positions are not merely a means for earning a living, but rather the means of gaining rapidly and accurately an intimate knowledge of the business—knowledge that will move you upward to the most responsible positions.

The International Business college during the past twenty-two years has prepared thousands of young men and women and today thousands of the graduates of this old and reliable institution are holding positions of trust and responsibility not only in Fort Wayne, but in every state of the union.

The school this year is bigger and better than ever before—more space has been acquired, many new typewriters added, and, in fact, nothing has been spared in an effort to give to Fort Wayne the very best to be had in the way of Commercial Education.

Business educators and typewriter manufacturers recognize the "International" as a leader among the thousands of Commercial Training schools throughout the United States.

This school is a live wire—you will be convinced of this fact if you will attend either our Day or Night classes and observe the hundreds of busy, earnest and thoroughly interested young men and women at work.

Our next term opening for both Day and Night pupils Monday, Nov. 4th.

SEES ADVANCE IN TRADE IN CHINA

Chinese Editor Speaks of Opportunities in the Orient.

YOUNG MEN WANTED

Portland, Ore., Nov. 1.—That immense trade fields are open to merchants of the United States in the new Chinese republic is the declaration of the Rev. Dr. Ng Poon Chew, one of the most prominent Chinese of San Francisco, who was in Portland to deliver a series of lectures.

"It is hard to realize that China furnishes big opportunities for trade," said Dr. Chew, "but the opportunities are there. They have been brought about by the wonderful transformation which has taken place in the nation within the last year. China looks to the United States for friendship, especially under the new government. It was the Americanization of Chinese leaders that brought about the great change in conditions in China to a large extent. For this reason the Chinese are greatly indebted to the United States and to her people."

"The only unfortunate thing is that the merchants of this country are slow to awaken to their opportunities. China would rather trade with any of the other countries, yet it seems that the merchants of these nations do not enter the field for the business as they should do. China has to depend upon other nations because her production is less than the consumption. The merchants of this country should investigate the market conditions and opportunities."

"There has been an astonishing transformation in China in the last year. The government is new, the people are new, the customs are new, and the prosperity is new. Within fifteen years you will see an entirely different race of people in China. The English language is gaining rapidly in usage in the new nation. It is now possible to travel into the interior without speaking Chinese. Everywhere you will find Chinese who can speak English. When I was in northern China recently I met people whose dialect in Chinese was so different from my own that I could not speak well with them. We spoke English instead of Chinese. Everywhere you will find Chinese who have been educated abroad."

"Young men who are educated have wonderful opportunities in China at present. With the growth of industry the man of culture is in demand."

"To the Chinese of America the new Chinese government feels greatly indebted because of the assistance given in the rebellion. American Chinese sent a large amount of money to help overthrow the imperial government. For this reason the Chinese here are to be given a representative in the Chinese assembly. He will be elected by the Chinese of the United States and will be sent back to cast a vote with representatives from all parts of the Chinese republic."

Dr. Chew is known as the Chinese "world citizen." He was closely identified with the rebellion and with the establishment of the new government.

CHICAGO TOO HOT FOR NEGRO CHAMP

Jack Johnson Sells His Saloon and Will Go to Russia.
GETS KNOCKOUT BLOW

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Chicago at last has become too hot for "Jack" Johnson, negro pugilist, and he is going to Russia.

It hardly can be said that Johnson's departure from the city, which is scheduled to take place Nov. 30, is at all of his own volition. His recent loss of reputation did not worry him much. He apparently grieved for a few days because of his wife's death and then sought solace with his white sweetheart.

When the city, county and federal authorities stepped in and took his white sweetheart away from him a few days ago, Johnson tried to use the winnings of his ring battles to win back his girl. He tried of this, however, and gave it up.

Given Knockout Blow.
During the last twenty-four hours Johnson was told that he could not remain in the saloon business. That was the final blow for the pugilist and for the first time in his career he had to admit that a "knockout punch" had struck him in a vital part, his pocket-book.

Johnson said last night that he had sold his saloon for $25,000 to Henry Sterett. The new owner will have to get a saloon license, as a brewery owned the one under which Johnson's place was operated and refused to consent to the pugilist again having a renewal of the license. The license was renewed, but not to Johnson. It was given to Theodore Sells, 244 North Clark street.

To Fight in Russia.
"I am going to fight in Russia," said Johnson. "I don't care if I never come back to Chicago. As far as the saloon business is concerned I don't want to hear about it again."

"Is the man who bought the saloon a white man?" was asked Johnson.

"I don't know," replied Johnson. "He looked white, but then you can't always tell by looking or talking to a person these days whether they are white or not."

"What are you going to do with the portraits you have in the saloon?" was another question asked.

"Why, the new owner is to have them for a year," said Johnson. "After that I may take them to wherever I decide to live. If ever I come back to Chicago I may have the pictures taken over to my mother's home."

Richard Klegin, of Paris, who says he represents the owners of the Aquarium Gardens, Moscow, Russia, gave Johnson a certified check for $5,000 and three round trip tickets to Russia last night.

May Be Held for Trial.

The federal authorities may interfere with Johnson's plans for leaving America. He is liable to be indicted by the local federal grand jury for his exploits with white women and may have to stand trial before a federal court.

If an indictment is returned against the pugilist it is likely that, in view of

WANT MOTHER TO COME BACK HOME

She turned yesterday to the Chicago police for aid in her troubles.

In a pathetic letter to Chief of Police McWeeny she tells of her mother's disappearance from home Oct. 6, of her father's distraction, which ended in his suicide a day or two ago, and of her present predicament—she has been left alone with a younger brother.

She wishes her mother to return before her "poor dead father" is taken to his grave. She desires her brother to come back so that she and her brother will not be forced to go to an orphanage.

Here is her letter:

October 30, 1912.
"Dear Sir, Mr. Chief of police. I have lost my mother. She went away October 6 and left me and little Leon and she has always been a good mother to us and also to father.
"Father started out to look for her as soon as she went. he traveled as long as he had strength. he came back from Philadelphia and he had to give up.

Tells of Father's Suicide.

"He called me and little Leon to him and said to tell mother, if she come back, that he had been looking for her so long his heart was broke, and then he went out and drank a bottle of sugar lead water and now we are left in the world without father or mother and he is lying in the room dead now, waiting for mother to come.

"We could stay to grandmother's, but she is down in head sick since mother has gone away.

"The people say we will hafta go to the home but if mother sees this in the papers she will come home and take care of my poor dead father and me and my little brother Leon. My mother's name Mrs. Alwilda Carman, my brother Leon, my name is Pearl. My poor father's name is Frank Carman.

"I think it is so hard to think our father is dead in the house and mother is gone and dont no it. If she could only hear of it she would come home as soon as she could get hear.

Would Follow Father.

"I no I don't want to go to the home for I always had a good home and I want to see my mother before they take father away and will you please put it in all of the papers you can so mother will get one to let her no that father is dead and we are about to go to the home.

"me and my little brother Leon wants to see mother before we go for grandmother Hilton is in sick in bed, and the doctor says she will never get out on count of her daughter Alwilda mother of Pearl and Leon Carman.

"My mother's name was before married Alwilda Hilton, of Pleasantville, N. Y., now it is Mrs. Alwilda Carman of Pleasantville, N. Y. My mother is 35 years old.

"I think it is so hard to be without father or mother. When she never was away from us before and will you please help us.

"I believe I will do the same thing that father done for he said that he had nothing more to live for when mother went away and I have only one to live for that is my little brother Leon.

"If I was only big enough to work I would take care of my little Leon until my mother comes so please help me.

We are in distress it always been a happy family, now a sad one but I will forgive mother. For we want to see her again before they take my poor dead father away.

"Oh dear if I could only see my poor mother once mor I dont no what I will do without father or mother.

"Do all you can for me Mr. Chief of Police "Chicago, Illinois. From little Pearl Carman daughter of Mrs. Alwilda Carman Pleasantville, N. Y. My grandmother's name is Anna P. Hilton, Pleasantville, N. Y."

COLONEL NEVER A PROGRESSIVE

Says LaFollette in Last Campaign Shot Before Election.

CITES THE RECORD

Madison, Wis., Nov. 1.—"Fighting Bob" LaFollette's final pre-election shot at Roosevelt was fired today in the concluding chapter of the senator's autobiography, printed in his weekly magazine.

"Did President Roosevelt in all the years of his administration, when these tariff and trust made prices were wrongfully taking hundreds of millions of dollars from the consumers, send a ringing message to congress recommending tariff revision downward? Did he issue a proclamation calling an extra session for tariff revision, thereby putting the subject up to congress in a way to compel action?"

"He did neither. That he not only was a standpatter, backing and co-operating with standpatter leaders in legislation, but gave the great weight of presidential influence to perpetuate their reactionary rule, as late as the middle of his second term, is proven out of his own mouth. Roosevelt, on August 18, 1906, wrote to the same James E. Watson who was floor manager for Taft in the Chicago convention of 1912, a letter from which a quote:

"With Mr. Cannon as speaker, the house has accomplished a literally phenomenal amount of work. It has shown a courage, good sense and patriotism, such that it would be a real and serious misfortune for the country to fail to recognize."

Senator LaFollette quotes the "My Dear Mr. Harriman" letter in which occurs Roosevelt's famous phrase, "you and I are practical men." He calls attention to the $250,000 raised by Harriman and goes extensively into the government's failure to make any effective legal fight against Harriman's great railroad combinations. He discusses also similar abortive action against J. Pierpont Morgan's consolidation of the New England steam and electric railroads and steamship lines, "leaving all New England at the mercy of this monstrous transportation monopoly."

"In considering Roosevelt as a candidate, and a suitable representative of progressive principles, I could not fail to remember our long struggle in Wisconsin. One little word of encouragement, publicly spoken by President Roosevelt, however slight, would have been as new wine to our battered forces fighting in the gray dawn of this progressive movement. But, instead, President Roosevelt was then a scoffer, ever ready with expressions of contempt."

"Henry C. Payne was to Wisconsin what Mark Hanna was to the country. Mark Hanna, representing Big Business, wanted Payne in McKinley's cabinet. I protested. McKinley refused, saying that he would not appoint a man in his cabinet who was known to be a lobbyist. But immediately after McKinley's death Roosevelt appointed Payne, postmaster general, placing this credit man at the head of 4,000 postmasters who would take his orders and do his bidding in Wisconsin."

"Joseph W. Babcock was chairman of the congressional campaign committee. It was his office to 'fry the fat' out of the manufacturers, brewers, railroads, and other special interests. Babcock's record as a standpater, corporation-serving congressman was notorious. He fought everything progressive in Wisconsin. Following the 1902 campaign Roosevelt commended Babcock in the following letter:

"White House, Washington, D. C., Nov. 6, 1902."

"PERSONAL. 'My Dear Babcock: I feel that you and your colleagues, Mr. Overstreet, Mr. Hull (both standpatters) and the others, are entitled to the thanks of every good republican. I wish to express my appreciation of all that you have done, my delight at the way we have been able to work together, and my astonishment at the accuracy of your forecasts."

"Faithfully yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

"The holder of every important federal office in Wisconsin was a persistent lobbyist, using the power and influence of his position under Roosevelt to defeat every progressive measure. They were bitter in their opposition to direct primaries, to the regulation of railroads, to railway taxation, to the reduction of passenger rates, to the prohibition of rebating, to a corrupt practices act, to pure food legislation—in short, to the entire progressive program. Members of the legislature pledged to support these measures betrayed their constituents and were rewarded with lucrative appointments by President Roosevelt. Federal judgeships were bestowed upon reactionaries and standpatters."

"In 1911 Roosevelt thought it would be a great calamity to divide the republican party. The only thing that made it so bad as to deserve being given asunder was that it would not nominate him for a third term in 1912."

"On his visit to Madison in the spring of 1911, he said to Governor McGovern, Lieutenant Governor Morris and Speaker Ingram:

"I am afraid LaFollette will start a new party. I don't want to see that happen. I am disappointed with Taft. But I don't want to see LaFollette create a division. You fellows here are in a position to reach him."

"I would in no degree disparage the good work of progressive democrats. Encouraged by Bryan's support of progressive principles, many democrats in Wisconsin and other states abandoned their party on state issues and supported the republican progressive program. And it was Bryan's superb leadership and courage at Baltimore which nominated a candidate for the presidency who has made a progressive record as governor of New Jersey."

"Blind allegiance to every party nomination is not essential. The election of a strong body of progressive republicans in both branches of congress may enable them to hold the balance of power in legislation. That balance would serve as a check upon any president, if reactionary; and if progressive would aid him to wring from reactionary opposition in both houses, legislation to protect public interests."

WOMEN AIM TO BE MASTER WORKERS

To Enlarge Trade School to Accommodate the Crowds SEEKING TO ENTER

New York, Nov. 1.—If there was any doubt concerning interest by women in the building trades that doubt is dispelled by the scores of letters from women which the Master Builders' association is receiving about the new Johnson trade school, to open next month at Winfield, L. I. It was expected that the school would be ready to open last week, but since so many applications have been received by the board of trustees, of which Thomas J. Buckley is president, decided to wait until the building could be enlarged to accommodate all the applicants. The original capacity of the school was ninety, but two more stories have been added in the design and there will be room for at least 250.

One hundred and fifty women and girls already have enrolled. One girl wanted to become a carpenter because her father was one; another wanted to learn plumbing, as she believed it a road to wealth. One girl, who is said to be the daughter of a wealthy St. Louis man, is to take the course in order to assist her father in building operations, and still another, the daughter of a United States senator, hopes to start a trade school in her home town for the benefit of factory girls.

But whatever object the applicants have in mind, each is interested because she believes it to be the opening of a wide field of usefulness for women with better opportunities, more healthful employment than in shop and factory, with better wages and an opportunity for advancement. Philanthropic organizations in Chicago, San Francisco and elsewhere have asked information about the school with a view to establishing others.

The course will cover two years and will include brick laying, plumbing, carpentry, masonry, draughting, estimating the cost of building construction and steel construction. The tuition is $300 a year. Edward Middleton, architect and civil engineer, will be in charge of the school. No provision has been made for living quarters for the pupils. They eat at home.

It is expected that when the real object of the school becomes known there will be an even larger number of applications.

HAS MIRROR FOR PRISONERS. Drunkards Will See Themselves as Others See Them.

Baltimore, Nov. 1.—In order that prisoners "can see themselves as others see them" a large mirror will be placed in the courtroom of the southwestern police station. Drunkards and those who have been in combat in the future may look upon themselves and see their lumps, bumps and bruises. Prisoners will be escorted to the glass, told to look at themselves and then asked for an expression of what they think of their appearance.

"JERSEY BLACKEST STATE" "Saloon to Every 83 Boys and Girls," Says Temperance Worker.

New York, Nov. 1.—"New Jersey, from a liquor point of view, is the blackest state in the union," said the Rev. Mr.

Stearns, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league of New Jersey, at a service in the First Reformed church, Passaic. "This state has 10,000 saloons, 1,500 of which are in the city of Newark," he continued. "This state has enough saloons to allow one for every eighty-three boys and girls. The last effort to put a bill through the legislature establishing local option was defeated chiefly by christian men, some of them church officers."

Symptoms Are Warnings To Wise Men.

The publication of the prescription of a famed physician would prove fruitless to hundreds of men if unable to recognize the necessity for its use. It is not the intention or desire of the writer to mislead or frighten by painting the horrors suffered by the prematurely aged, but rather to let the doctor to state plain facts. The peculiar affliction which destroys ambition, organic strength, energy and hope is caused by some of the following symptoms: Dull, sunken eyes; thinness (or abnormal fatness); cold extremities; backache; weakness in the spine; twitching, spots before the eyes; pains in back of head, headache, trembling, fatigue, shrinking of the skin, flabby flesh, impaired memory, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, constipation, kidney derangements, and a general unpreparedness for emergencies of all sorts.

The right kind of medical treatment will effectively overcome such warning symptoms and restore normal conditions if persistently used for a few short weeks.

Anyone can buy the ingredients, and mix the medicines of this prescription at home as it contains no poisonous opiates whatever.

The instructions for mixing at home secretly so that no embarrassment may be felt, are as follows: First get three ounces of syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balsam; mix and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce compound essence cardo, and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cadomene), and mix all together. The directions are to take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring, until bounding health and full strength are restored. Even a few weeks will witness most wonderful results.

GARRETT NEGRO GOES UP FOR LIFE

Auburn Judge Sentenced Robinson to Life Imprisonment for Slaying Sam Paton.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 1.—Willie Williams Robinson, the negro charged with shooting and killing Sam Paton, another negro, in Garrett the 10th of October, and indicted for murder in the first degree, was brought into court and changed his plea to guilty of murder in second degree.

On being asked whether he wanted to be tried by a jury or court he expressed preference for the court. He told the story of the shooting. He said Paton had stolen his money and when asked to return it he was assaulted. He then went to the Little hardware store, purchased the gun, saw Paton and went after him and shot him in the back. Judge Powers pronounced the sentence, imprisonment for life, and the prisoner was told that his good conduct would have some effect on his treatment.

TAFT IS OUT OF IT HERE IS WILSON'S TRUST RECORD Compare with Roosevelt's

For two years Woodrow Wilson has been Governor of New Jersey—the home of the Trusts—where the big corporations pay something like $6,000,000 a year into the treasury of the State for the right to have their legal domicile therein, no matter where their actual homes may be.

When Governor Wilson was elected, the lower house of the legislature was Democratic, and the state senate was Republican by a small majority. From this legislature the Governor secured the legislation which gives him whatever record he may have as a Progressive.

During all the time that he has been Governor, Woodrow Wilson has sent no message to the legislature suggesting regulation of great combines, although the original law of the State specifically provides that the legislature shall have power to amend charters. The statute reads as follows:

"The charter of every corporation, or any supplement thereto or amendment thereof, shall be subject to alteration, suspension and repeal, in the discretion of the legislature, and the legislature may at pleasure dissolve any corporation."

Governor Wilson is one of those who professes belief that guilt is personal and that prosecution is one of the methods by which the trust problem may be solved. There is nothing to show that he has ever sought to induce the Attorney-General to proceed in law or equity, either criminally or civilly, against the trusts.

And yet a statute of New Jersey provides that "Any person or persons who shall organize or incorporate, or procure to be organized or incorporated, any corporation or body corporate under the laws of this State, with intent thereby to further, promote or conduct any fraudulent or unlawful object, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any person or persons who, being officers, directors, managers or employees of any corporation or body corporate incorporated under the laws of this State, shall willfully use, operate or control said corporation or body corporate for the furtherance or promotion of any fraudulent or unlawful object, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor."

This is what William J. Gaynor, the Democratic Mayor of New York says:

"If the Governor would spend more of his time at home, exercising the power with which he is now invested, there would be no occasion for his roaming around the country bemoaning the existence of trusts and monopolies which New Jersey has had complete power to control."

Have you any reason, Mr. Voter, to think that Governor Wilson would be any more effective against the trusts if he were elected President than he has been as Governor?

WOMAN'S PLEA SAVES SISTERS

Wins Court Leniency for Two on a Forgery Charge.

OTHER STATE NEWS

Marion, Ind., Nov. 1.—Mrs. Meriam Gerhardt, of Indianapolis, through an impressive speech before Judge H. J. Paulus, in the Grand circuit court, saved her sisters, Mrs. Alice Rickard and Mrs. Violet Hoffbauer, also of Indianapolis, from being sent to the woman's prison for forgery.
Mrs. Rickard and Mrs. Hoffbauer were arrested at Indianapolis last January on joint charges of forgery and uttering a forged will, it being alleged they filed a false will purporting to be the will of their aunt, Mrs. Miriam Miller. They pleaded guilty in June.
Judge Paulus, after admonishing the guilty sisters as to their conduct, announced that he would suspend sentence. The alleged forged will was filed for probate and by its terms the estate of Mrs. Miller, valued at between $10,000 and $12,000, was left largely to Mrs. Rickard and Mrs. Hoffbauer.

CHICAGO UNKIND TO CHRISTOPHER

Statues of the Discoverer Lie Buried in Mud Bank.

WERE VERY VALUABLE

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Christopher Columbus is "in bad" in Chicago these days. Two statues of the great discoverer have been unceremoniously dragged from pedestals and tossed in the garbage dump. One has been rescued for its bronze value, melted down, and by the talent of Charles J. Mulligan now represents William McKinley in McKinley park.

This particular Columbus was designed and executed by Howard Kretschmer in 1903, when Columbus was Chicago's saint. It was erected on the lake front at a cost of $10,000. It offended the artistic taste of visiting sculptors. Chicago thought it was a masterpiece. Finally it was condemned as a freak. It was pulled down and lay prostrate in the mud. Nobody wanted it. Thieves tried to steal it, but this was a hopeless task. A bunch of men sold it to a farmer for $25. The farmer brought his team in to haul it away, but gave it up. The statue was taken to the Coliseum to be set up, but finally found lodgings in an alley, where it reclined against a stable. Then it disappeared. Later it was found standing disconsolately behind some bushes in Washington park. Next it was pulled down and turned over to Mr. Mulligan to melt down. The dreadful aftermath is that Howard Kretschmer's dream of art was shattered and he turned osteopath.

There is another statue of Columbus now a pile of stone and bronze. It is the noted St. Gaudens work which was exhibited at the world's fair. After the fair it was placed in the rotunda of the Field Columbian museum. Later a public school asked for the statue. The statue was moved to the school, but when it was discovered that a large appropriation would be needed to mount the statue the work was not undertaken. It now lies in the school yard a wreck.
